

Safe venue hire guidance for “permissive spaces”

As defined in the context of the UK Prevent Duty, permissive spaces must not be exploited to promote extremist, hateful, or harmful narratives. The Prevent Duty requires all relevant staff to undertake rigorous due diligence, risk assessment, and active management when receiving event or guest speaker requests, ensuring venues are safe, secure and inclusive for everyone.

This guidance should be followed, along with your venue hire policy and risk assessment, in accordance with the Prevent Duty (Section 26 of the Counter Terrorism and Security Act 2015).

Definitions

Extremism: vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs.

Radicalisation: is the process by which a person comes to support terrorism and extremist ideologies.

ASK: what's planned and who's planning it?

- Who is the individual or organisation booking the event? Ask for their name and any associated names they operate under. Ask for their address and a phone number. Get details of the individual or organisation's website and associated websites.
- What is the event planned? Theme, name of the event, agenda, content, speakers, expected audience numbers and demographics, details of how the event will be promoted (ask for copies of flyers/posters etc), is the event open to the public or ticket only.
- Has the organisation/individual read and agreed to your venue policy? Do they implement a policy that promotes equality and diversity and challenges all forms of discrimination?

CHECK: undertake due diligence to confirm what you've been told

- Review the publicly available information of those individuals/organisations making the booking and the speakers by viewing their websites, articles, blogs or speeches, considering what other people are saying about them.
- Ask for a reference from a venue provider previously used by the individual/organisation.
- If the booking is for a charity, check the charity number of the organisation with the Charity Commission at www.gov.uk/government/organisations/charity-commission

DECIDE: do you let the event go ahead?

Advice when taking bookings

- If the booking is being arranged by an event management or another company, make sure you know who their client is.
- Be wary of individuals only giving mobile numbers.
- If enquiries are made about internet use and bandwidth, investigate whether any speakers are participating in the event remotely.
- Be wary of individuals/organisations making large cash payments.
- Ensure that in the event of reputational risk to your organisation, you have the ability to withdraw from the contract.

Top tips when researching online

- Complete a thorough check on the individuals and organisations involved by viewing their website(s) and looking at what other people are saying about them (articles/blogs etc). Where possible use primary evidence such as an organisation's manifesto or a person speaking on YouTube.
- When you are looking at a website, check if it's being kept up to date.
- If you are unsure about an organisation, check if it has a contact telephone number and business address.
- Under GDPR (UK data protection), any searches you complete must be managed appropriately and sensitively ensuring data sharing agreements are adhered to.

Suggested wording for venue hire policy

Martyn's Law

The Terrorism (Protection of Premises) Act 2025, commonly known as Martyn's Law, aims to enhance public safety by requiring organisations to take proportionate steps to protect people from the threat of terrorism.

The duties introduced by the Act apply broadly across a range of sectors, including charities, where publicly accessible locations are used for qualifying activities.
