| 14 | 02/01/2019 12:58:37 | Yes | Yes but would prefer that more money should come from Central Government. Hopefully once Brexit happens we will not be sending so much money to other countries and would have a pot of money to support more policing. | £8 per year (equivalent to 15p per week on a Band D property) | See caveat on question 1. | Broadland |
| 15 | 02/01/2019 12:59:18 | Yes | Simon Bailey needs the financial support to continue his future policing plans I am encouraged by the way the force has invested in more officers and more tech, like Op Moonshot, drones, tablets etc. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | I think at the present time an effective police force is essential | Breckland |
| 16 | 02/01/2019 13:01:27 | Yes | Any agreement to increase would need to be subject to strict policies on that the money is solely to fund extra officers on the beat. If officers retire and be in receipt of pension they may not take civilian jobs within the force while receiving a police pension. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | West Norfolk |
| 17 | 02/01/2019 12:56:09 | Yes | - | £16 per year (equivalent to 31p per week on a Band D property) | Until wages increase any amount higher is to much of a tax burden on the individual | South Norfolk |
| 18 | 02/01/2019 13:04:00 | Yes | - | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | Norwich |
| 19 | 02/01/2019 13:04:01 | Yes | Abolish the office of Police and Crime Commissioner and save over 1 million pounds per year and that could go towards the Police. | £8 per year (equivalent to 15p per week on a Band D property) | - | West Norfolk |
| 20 | 02/01/2019 13:06:34 | Yes | As long as the extra funding was used purely to provide more police on the streets. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | Broadland |
| 21 | 02/01/2019 13:07:14 | No | I will not pay another penny to the precept. Year on year you've had your hand out and dipped in to my pocket. I will see no pay rise for 2019 and despite reporting criminal activity, have seen nothing done about it. So no, not another penny. Sort yourselves out. | - | - | Great Yarmouth |
| 22 | 02/01/2019 13:07:27 | Yes | Only if this were to include more visible policing and with more understanding of the true issues faced by young people today. I think a lot of money is wasted on minor offences whilst the bigger picture is being missed | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | West Norfolk |

| 24 | 02/01/2019 13:10:47 | Yes | Crime is on the rise so we need to invest more in policing | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | West Norfolk |

| 27 | 02/01/2019 13:15:51 | Yes | better policing yes but as it stands no we do not get any action when reporting crimes this costs me time and money to do | - | lets have value for money for what we re paying | West Norfolk |
| 28 | 02/01/2019 13:17:39 | Yes | Crucial services needed to be funded and we all need to make our contribution. I think Simon Bailey needs to look more closely at how his supposedly meagre resources are used. I see numerous police cars and personnel attend minor incidents and having been a volunteer in the past for Norfolk Police I have witnessed first hand the daily waste that is still going on. Also, in my time volunteering there was more talk about how much more pay by way of overtime officers could make, than talk about the job in hand. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | West Norfolk |
| 29 | 02/01/2019 13:18:20 | No | If payment meant seeing some police in Gissing and Tivetshall Parishioners would feel they are still part of a civilised society. | - | - | Breckland |
| 30 | 02/01/2019 13:11:28 | Yes | - | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | I think nobody minds paying if they see something for it. | South Norfolk |

| 40 | 02/01/2019 13:23:38 | Yes | Yes because the police are in a difficult position but I also think that there needs to be radical look at what we are asking police to do. 1) Too often highly trained officers are doing inappropriate jobs that could be done by clerical assistants. Admin jobs should be consolidated across forces. 2) most importantly we should be addressing the causes of crime and spending money on youth workers and other measures to give worthwhile occupations to people who fall into crime. We need a realistic approach to drugs - present policies have not worked for 40 years and just fund organized crime!!!!. | £16 per year (equivalent to 31p per week on a Band D property) | There has to be some pressure on Police to address the issues I listed above. Police need to become part of the wider social services so that when crime falls, the able people still have a rewarding career path - at present there is an incentive to let crime rise so that there are more promotion opportunities. Police are only human and no one works to make themselves redundant! | South Norfolk |

We need to see more police on the ground, more visible activity on their part and more support from the courts. | South Norfolk |

| 46 | 02/01/2019 13:47:20 | Yes | Policing is a vital service and if it requires more funds to keep it running to full capacity then I would be willing to pay more in Council Tax. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | When you consider the very minimal amount per year that this would cost each household it is a small price to pay to safeguard our lives and property. | West Norfolk |

| 48 | 02/01/2019 13:50:38 | Yes | For front line Policing especially return of the Safer Neighbourhood Teams. Not for the silly plans to take over the Fire Service! | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | We deserve proper Police Force - The PCC MUST also start to criticise and take on fully the Conservative Government for the cuts they have caused - or does he support the Government cuts? | Norwich |

| 50 | 02/01/2019 13:57:03 | Yes | Whilst this shouldn't ideally be necessary, having served with the Constabulary for in excess of 39years as officer and civilian I appreciate that Government funding is currently inadequate. | £16 per year (equivalent to 31p per week on a Band D property) | - | Norwich |

| 58 | 02/01/2019 14:15:47 | Yes | Provided and only if the extra funding is used for front line policing and not back room or bureaucracy | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | As above I would strongly resist any extra taxation if it were not solely used for providing extra front line police officers | West Norfolk |
| 59 | 02/01/2019 14:19:46 | Yes | - | £8 per year (equivalent to 15p per week on a Band D property) | - | South Norfolk |

| 61 | 02/01/2019 14:11:40 | Yes | Provided it is entirely for "policing" and not by way of subsidising to example the "activities" of Norfolk;k County Council to whom I pay enough already with little return. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | Policing is vital; and i consider that Norfolk Constabulary is efficiently rand effectively run and managed and so such an increase will enhance the quality of the service we have already. I ask however that priority is assessed according to the importance to the majority of the populace and the significance of the "crime"or offence. For example terrorism murder assault robbery drug related offences and other serious crimes are given priority over more minor offences such as hate crime. | Breckland |

| 62 | 02/01/2019 14:05:27 | Yes | I think that we should pay more but trully believe the government needs to do more. I think our Police in Great Yarmouth do a fantastic job considering just how short handed they are. All Police across the country and other emergengy services are so very under pressure , and we know how hard they are working but we need more Police. As hard as they try they cannot cope with all the crime , it is a real worry that we feel so unprotected now. I cannot remember the last time I saw a Police officer walk down our road. We need this everywhere. It is a must. We grew up with Police doing foot patrols getting to know residents and there chidren, we respected them . Today it disgusts me how badly they are treated this nneeds to end not tomorrow but now. I feel very strongly about this and i know many of us would feel so much safer if we had regular foot patrols around our streets. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | We should all pay more plus higher taxes, we have had it all to easy for too long and now we are suffering with lack of resourses to maintain a good community for all residents. The government needs to pay more , Clubs and pubs where Police constantly have to attend because of drunks, drugs , fights and more shold be made to pay extra. People who take up and waste time should be made to pay and so should people who abuse all emergency services when each team could have been working with those that need them. Not prison sentences but hurt them in thier pockets. Also those that have been drunk and an ambulance has has to attend needs to spend time with the amabulance service as punishment to see just how bad it gets when all they are doing is picking up drunks. it would open thier eyes. | Great Yarmouth |

| 64 | 02/01/2019 14:25:36 | Yes | Yes, but I want it spent on frontline policing, so all the petty crime and antisocial behaviour in Thetford is dealt with. You talk about priorities, yet all I see in Thetford is people sitting around drinking alcohol. Why haven't you dealt with this yet? | £16 per year (equivalent to 31p per week on a Band D property) | Sounds about right, but I'd pay £24 if it actually made a difference. | Breckland |

| 68 | 02/01/2019 14:35:05 | No | The burden of tax, energy and food prices is already too high and continues to rise without a corresponding rise in my own income therefore I am unable to support a further rise. | - | - | Norwich |
| 69 | 02/01/2019 14:25:30 | No | No the police precept should stay the same we Have enough police officers now. they could & should Do More with what the Have Got the Big BMW Cars Should Go what a waist of Council tax payers money ? Norfolk police should Buy more motor Bikes(Not BMWs) & cycles & that would save a lot of Money a year council tax payers pay to much Now | - | - | West Norfolk |

| 73 | 02/01/2019 14:38:36 | No | I would live to know why an increase is required, have costs gone up? What savings have you made? What efficiency savings are planned. What did you spend the money on last year? If I knew you were spending the money wisely then I would be more inclined to want to pay more | - | - | West Norfolk |

We were told that that saving would be used to recruit more Officers | North Norfolk |
| 79 | 02/01/2019 14:50:49 | Yes | Only if it results in more visible police officers in the county and goes into frontline policing and not wasted on, for example, property. Really this should be funded by central government but I guess that is not going to happen so the public need to pay. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | No more than this as council tax is already going up and far outstripping inflation which is not fair. My pension increase is going to be a little over 2% but we need to combat increasing crime so we all need to pay. It is a worry to the older generation. | Breckland |
| 80 | 02/01/2019 14:58:09 | Yes | - | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | Broadland |
| 81 | 02/01/2019 14:59:06 | No | - | - | - | South Norfolk |

Categorically No.

As to my objection last year (2017) which I cited that a percentage increase is always already included in the council tax per year and in addition in 2017 an extraordinary increase was implemented. Obviously this is now trying to set a precedent year on year increases over an above normal inflation increases etc.

In respect of the past extraordinary increase of 2017, I have yet to see any benefit in policing or in my dealings with the constabulary that warranted the 2017 increase. Therefore one would assume that the same will apply in 2018.

Finally it would be of advantage to all taxpayers that the statics/results of this survey are made know to all tax payers for clarification of the result.

| 89 | 02/01/2019 15:03:13 | Yes | - We pay a high rate of council tax already indeed the band rate is incorrect as smaller properties are rated lower. This is because this is a newer property and the council does what it likes. Each year we are asked if an increase is ok and although we always say no! it goes up year after year. There is no visible police presence ever so why give more money!!! We do see police using police cars to go shopping at Tesco. The only time we required police help we were let down badly as agreed by the Chief Constable! | £8 per year (equivalent to 15p per week on a Band D property) | Whilst communities want a visible police presence this is not financially viable. Some community events attended and Tweeted by officers also seem a tad pointless! The police need to 'police' and stop trying to be everything to all people. A national review of what police will do /attend should be undertaken with a view to massive national saving in policing! | Broadland |

| | | | Yes but as a member of the public I want to see more police on the beat offering proper reassurance and gathering sound intelligence! I am prepared to pay more to see a better visible presence! I believe there are too many senior officers on a high pay scale and some of the savings could provide more officers out on the streets as needed desperately | | | |
| 97 | 02/01/2019 15:18:59 | Yes | The police perform a critical function in a civilised society and we should all be prepared to pay what it takes to enable them to do this. | £8 per year (equivalent to 15p per week on a Band D property) | - | South Norfolk |

I honestly cannot remember the last time I saw a Bobby on the beat locally, and that's where it's needed. A local presence would reduce burglary and vandalism, and would also restore some faith, and respect in the police force; something which is sadly lacking these days and not entirely without justification. | - | - | West Norfolk |

| | | | | | | work needs to be done not only with getting an increase in Officer numbers but also with supporting the Officers you already have. I know a number of PC's with 2yrs to over 15yrs service who are struggling due to the low numbers they have on their teams for each shift. This isn't just Breckland but Norwich and specialist teams too. They hate the fact that they can't give the service to us, the public, that they should and want to be able to give. Many are 'worn out' and deflated, moral is low. I have huge respect for Norfolk Officers, the job they do and what they have to deal with. You just can't afford to continue to lose the experienced Officers. Do you collect detailed reasons and analyse the reason for experienced Officer attrition? What can be done to ease the 'paperwork' that keeps the guys and gals from being able to respond to more calls or to actually be proactive rather than reactive? From a community perspective in Attleborough the loss of the PCSO's is very evident. I know a lot has been done within Norwich around foot and cycle patrols which is great but there is no-one walking the town and talking to people in Attleborough anymore or at least I never see them. | 160 | 02/01/2019 18:16:04 | Yes | | A reduction in numbers of officers and their back up facilities would be particularly bad for the county . The availability of drugs and the growing nuisance of crime which can only be countered by manpower and physical presence is detrimental to what is otherwise a good place to live. Crime which needs a powerful response includes hare coursing, unauthorised metal detecting, fly tipping, unlicensed musical events, and general driving of motor vehicles on nature reserves, agricultural land and sports fields. The public must have the confidence that if they report such crimes a suitable police response will follow. When police attend an unlicensed musical event, for example, they must have the resources to enforce the law. An inadequate response is embarrassing and dangerous. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | I think the enforcement of law and order is the first priority of society. Everything else depends on this priority. Organised crime is waiting in the wings for a reduction in the upkeep of the law .If police resources are reduced I am worried that organised crime will pop up in all sorts of places, a bit like mushrooms overnight. | West Norfolk |

Speed cameras do NOT catch up with them! 20,000 fewer police so that the Bankers and C.E.O.s can be fed , huge rises in violent crime , big surprise ! This government applies "austerity" to ordinary people but does nothing about the people who ripped us off in 2008,and are still getting away with big time swindles | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | Obviously the less the better but as a former police officer I am fully aware of the cost of providing full time fully warranted police officers. | South Norfolk |

| 205 | 03/01/2019 00:25:17 | No | We are continually required to pay more for policing while seeing an ever-reducing reduction in police presence. We have no choice but to pay whatever is demanded but if a crime has been committed we receive no visit from a police officer but merely receive a 'crime number'. Years ago we had 'bobbies on the beat' who knew their local area and 'felt the pulse' of the local community. Now we have reduced numbers of officers 'swanning around' in always the latest, top of the range, motor vehicles with apparently little understanding of local communities slow to respond to local problems. We used to have PCSO's who were a help in local communities but, in your wisdom, you have taken them away from us as well. | - | - | Broadland |

| 217 | 03/01/2019 07:15:54 | Yes | Having lived in a rural area of Norfolk for the past 5 years my one concern with the policing of our county is that NOT ONCE have I seen a police officer on our rural road and would dearly like to see a patrol car pass by at least once a month. I have lost all faith in the Police forces of the land to do a good job anymore.. 50 extra front line officers won't make much difference. This government is in a total mess and is bringing the country to its knees, why should we pay for extra police to look after criminals that they have let into the country from the EU? | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | See comment above | Breckland |
| 218 | 03/01/2019 07:06:51 | No | We have year on year increased police funding with a decrease in police services rising crime rates of the worst kind, why because central government policy of cut backs. Central government want to control the police let them fund it. | - | - | South Norfolk |

| 229 | 03/01/2019 09:07:44 | Yes | This increase needs to be used on police officers. While staff are needed to investigate cyber crime, exploitation, etc, these roles are specialist and should not take warranted officers from patrol duties. Properly trained civilian staff or officers who are no longer able to carry out patrol duties should be used in these roles. Centralising investigation units should cut costs and any savings must be used to support front-line policing More visible policing is needed to stop the anti-social behaviour, which is blighting our towns. As far as i'm aware we had to pay more this year and has the service improved? Not from what i see. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | I would suggest that the Constabulary looks at its structure - particularly Senior Management - and make reductions. Do we really need Assistant and Deputy Chief Constable roles? The Constabulary should also lobby the County Council and government about the lack of Youth Work and funding for Children's Centres. Preventative work will deliver savings in the reactive work that local authorities are now having to carry out. | West Norfolk |

Look seriously at proper joint chief/force instead of the current mismatch especially with the current retirement situation in Suffolk. Look at resourcing all items at lowest cost not as per current restricted to named suppliers are just a few examples. I do realize if the precept is not raised jobs will be at risk yet again but this will happen any way regardless of whether the precept is raised or not. My outgoing and household bills have gone up not down so I have no spare cash to afford the precept which keeps going up - the general public and police staff are not bottomless pits, we do not have endless amounts of cash spare to keep funding public services. I suggest that the PCCs go back to the government and make them see sense to start putting money back into public services and stop fleecing the voters. We simply cannot afford to keep propping up public services. Stop the government sending monies abroad and start looking at public services at home please. | | | | | The real priority for any increase in council tax should be our social care services. They have been mauled over the last 10 years and the county council should be asking the people of Norfolk to pay more to help the vulnerable in our society. The police service doesn't need a larger slice of the pie. | - | - | South Norfolk |

| | | | | Why should we when they waste so much money on irrelevant matters. The Chief Constable has been in the force for too long we need new blood with fresh ideas and thinking this should bring savings. Nowhere have we seen the Commissioner taking the force to task or criticising them over things they have done. Hopefully the next commissioner will know something about policing and will be proactive and do something. | 333 | 04/01/2019 08:28:28 | Yes | Police coverage in Norfolk is far below what is needed. No fault of the Chief Constable or any of his staff. The fault lies entirely with the government. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | Without proper funding we will just keep going backwards. What the commission need to understand is much like the police the public also have a finite amount of resources. Much like the police our income or budget has not increased over the years and we are equally having to make cuts ourselves. Its also not just the police taking money from that finite pot, everyone from councils to government, electricity to petrol companies are all also taking thier share and equally demanding more money just for the same level of service. Yet my wages haven't gone up, i have no extra money coming in, but companies and organisations think the public are ATM's with unlimited resources to give. I would love more police on the streets of course. But when councillors are awarding themselves unwareted pay rises, when councils are wasting money on stupid schemes and still wanting more - there wont be much left to give. | Breckland |

| | | | | The statement says that if 46p each was paid, 40 police officers COULD be employed, this does not say that they would . How would this be guaranteed and proven to employ 40 further police officers? - I do not believe it will. I do not see a police officer in Brooke from one month end to the next, unless they are in a police car travelling through the village. They cannot be bothered to come to the Parish Council meetings. Unfortunately, if we are expected to pay more, the government will reduce their payment correspondingly, and we will end up no better off. | | | |

The continued movement of people from the main city's increase not only the level of criminal activity but so the type i.e. moped street robbery and traveling drug dealers. I also advocate supporting for example helping the homeless, victim support for burglary, protecting pedestrians and cyclists from road rage. An important aim should be to reduce dangerous driving and driver crime, speeding, jumping red lights etc. People ride on pavements because the roads are dangerous. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | I favour the same charge and increase equally for all but those on the very lowest Council Tax Band. | | | | | As a law abiding, tax paying resident of Norfolk, I have seen council tax and precept for policing rise year after year and nothing changes. Promises are repeatedly made each year about more visible policing, but nothing changes and violent / knife crime is on the increase. The propaganda in this years budget consultation document regarding what each increase level will or will not provide, is just a scare tactic to justify the increase that is inevitable going to happen. Maybe policing methods should be looked at rather than Norfolk residents being asked to constantly bear the cost of policing that doesn't appear to be working. Money is not always the answer. | - | - | |

| 406 | 04/01/2019 16:51:53 | No | I have in past years, when completing the annual survey, said "yes" on the basis the service will be improved or at the very least maintained. It is my humble view that year by year the police appear to accept less and less responsibility. I have the feeling that law breakers - whether minor or major - consider the odds very much in their favour of remaining undetected and therefore the police are no longer the deterrent they were. I was also very much against the abolition of Community Support Officers. So not being impressed with promises that have been made in the past I must now say no to any further increases in rates until the force gets its act together. | | | | | We pay enough already. The PCC needs to resign as he's work for the past years as been nothing but increasing the tax and making people redundant. Also he's ideia of merging the police with the fire department is appalling! Why if the service as it is works perfectly? Please resign... You sir, have absolutely no ideia what strain you're putting on middle class working families. Please let someone who knows about policing do the job. You should have done a better job with the resources available. Thanks. | | |

| | | | BUT FIRSTLY, REDUCE THE DEFICIT. Bring pressure to bear on Councils to abolish the small business council tax relief (avoidance) for holiday home owners. That alone would increase North Norfolk District Council's annual income by over £1.8 million - and likewise other DCs would receive extra cash. Collectively these sums would boost Norfolk County Council's income considerably, helping to close the financial gap - and treat people fairly. Preferential treatment for holiday home owners cannot be justified and should be stopped. Those people are sufficiently wealthy to afford second properties, which they use to generate more income. At the same time they enjoy privileged status of paying no council tax, whilst enjoying the benefits for free, such as policing. It is high time to treat everyone fairly and even-handedly; and thus maximise council income. | | | |

We need to tax larger corporations more, close tax loopholes and start looking after all of society. Austerity is hurting people, and that's part of the reason for increase in crime. Another reason is that there have been 20,000 jobs lost in the Police service since 2010. Not least of which has been the loss of 150 PCSO's across the region. | | | |

| | | | All efforts would seem to revolve around Norwich. Indeed the chance to question the Chief Constable is at the Forum in Norwich. The rest of the county is being ignored. I therefore believe that any increase in numbers would largely be seen in Norwich and surrounding areas. I would not object to a small increase in council tax,(although my government pension is not very rapidly). If we saw a noticeable increase in policing in King's Lynn. The rates of Pubs and nightclubs should be greatly increased to reflect the amount of police time devoted to problems caused by them. | | | |

| 700 | 14/01/2019 10:40:26 | Yes | Yes but it should come from central government | £8 per year (equivalent to 15p per week on a Band D property) | There should be more input to budget from central government. Austerity kills and is a political choice, not a fiscal necessity | Norwich |
| 701 | 14/01/2019 11:21:59 | Yes | - | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | Norwich |
| 702 | 14/01/2019 11:24:15 | Yes | - | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | We rarely see any police presence in our local area and if extra funding meant there would be more community policing and 'bobbies on the beat' , we heartily support this. We also appreciate the need to keep abreast of modern technology. | Norwich |
| 703 | 14/01/2019 11:53:45 | Yes | - | £16 per year (equivalent to 31p per week on a Band D property) | - | Breckland |
| 704 | 14/01/2019 12:15:24 | Yes | - | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | Having moved from a high crime area , Essex. It was a nice change to live in Norfolk for the last 8 years. But Im seeing a trend in increased local crime, especially petty crime in villages, like smash a grab from cars, drone spying on property, garage burglary. Also the trend for organised crime from London making inroads into Norwich, and the high level of knife crime. We are seeing a push for property builds in the hundreds, if not thousands, we need more police, more funding. | Broadland |

| 705 | 14/01/2019 13:36:20 | Yes | County services are not free so we as the residents should be prepared to pay in order to receive an acceptable service. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | . I would be prepared to pay an additional £60 pa if it was guaranteed we would receive a better service. | West Norfolk |
| 706 | 14/01/2019 14:26:36 | No | What will they do with this extra money? I would have preferred a bit more information as to where the money is spent now. A simple pie diagram would have helped . | - | - | Broadland |
| 707 | 14/01/2019 16:14:03 | Yes | Policing should be paid for by the government. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | Happy to support this proposal BUT perhaps a bit more effort in the future could be made telling us how the money is spent. | Great Yarmouth |
| 708 | 14/01/2019 16:31:17 | No | - | - | - | South Norfolk |

| 720 | 14/01/2019 16:48:04 | Yes | I have ticked yes, however this is not a simple Yes or No question. Decisions for the tax payer, the Police and the Local Authority need to be presented together with the overall cost stated. | - | Please see response above to question 1 | Great Yarmouth |
| 721 | 14/01/2019 16:47:24 | Yes | I would happily pay more for policing as part of my council tax | £16 per year (equivalent to 31p per week on a Band D property) | - | Norwich |
| 722 | 14/01/2019 16:52:33 | Yes | - | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | Norwich |

| 731 | 14/01/2019 17:05:39 | Yes | I also think the government should pay more for policing in Norfolk | £16 per year (equivalent to 31p per week on a Band D property) | The police really need for funding although I think the government should make more funds available as well | Norwich |
| 732 | 14/01/2019 17:06:59 | Yes | - | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | Broadland |
| 733 | 14/01/2019 17:06:59 | No | Already overpaying for reduced service. Increase the recovery of proceeds of crime to fund services. Get rid on unnecessary political posts within the service, commissioner is a waste of resources. | - | - | Broadland |
| 734 | 14/01/2019 17:09:05 | Yes | - | £8 per year (equivalent to 15p per week on a Band D property) | - | South Norfolk |

| 735 | 14/01/2019 17:04:35 | Yes | But all the other organisations who take part of their budget from the Council Tax are asking the same of local people, which means that the disadvantaged will inevitably be squeezed. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | If you're going to do it please do it properly. | Norwich |
| 736 | 14/01/2019 17:24:49 | Yes | - | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | South Norfolk |
| 737 | 14/01/2019 17:24:24 | No | We pay enough in other taxes. So NO I would not be prepared to pay more for the Police part of Council Tax. | - | - | South Norfolk |
| 738 | 14/01/2019 17:25:57 | Yes | - | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | Great Yarmouth |
| 739 | 14/01/2019 17:23:53 | Yes | I feel that currently resources are inadequate I pay too much tax as it is. NO I WOULD NOT BE PREPARED TO PAY MORE COUNCIL TAX FOR THE POLICE SECTION. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | That equates with only 5 bottles of wine per annum. | Broadland |
| 740 | 14/01/2019 17:26:50 | No | - | - | - | South Norfolk |
| 741 | 14/01/2019 17:33:58 | No | - | - | - | South Norfolk |

| 746 | 14/01/2019 17:37:09 | Yes | Policing should be funded via our council tax, the government needs to cover the cost, but I would be willing to pay extra if it went to my local area. | £16 per year (equivalent to 31p per week on a Band D property) | - | South Norfolk |
| 747 | 14/01/2019 17:39:53 | Yes | we need to keep Norfolk safe. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | North Norfolk |

| 750 | 14/01/2019 17:51:09 | Yes | only if you tackle crime that matters, not online abuse etc. You need to tackle drunks and violence in Thetford, car crime, burglary, antisocial behaviour etc. | £16 per year (equivalent to 31p per week on a Band D property) | - | Breckland |
| 751 | 14/01/2019 17:51:46 | Yes | - | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | Cannot support a higher increase as, many people myself included on fixed incomes consistently see the public sector having higher increases than the private sector | Broadland |
| 752 | 14/01/2019 17:57:45 | No | - | - | - | South Norfolk |
| 753 | 14/01/2019 17:59:06 | Yes | - | £8 per year (equivalent to 15p per week on a Band D property) | - | South Norfolk |

| 755 | 14/01/2019 17:49:22 | Yes | It's important to have a well trained, adequately resourced and up to date police force. | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | Norwich |
| 756 | 14/01/2019 18:03:17 | No | Yes, I would but not as part of a council tax increase. Council tax should be used for council services which are already underfunded. Increasing police funding by increasing the precept is disingenuous. I have therefore ticked No as I don't want my opinion to be misrepresented. | - | - | South Norfolk |
| 757 | 14/01/2019 18:11:38 | No | After raising last time. PCSO's still scrapped just to pay for police commissioner. Crime in costessey is ridiculous and police don't have time to come out due to these cuts. | - | - | South Norfolk |
| 758 | 14/01/2019 18:13:46 | Yes | For sure | £24 per year (equivalent to 46p per week on a Band D property) | - | West Norfolk |

| 761 | 14/01/2019 18:16:45 | No | All Forces and the like should learn to work within their budgets and not constantly requesting ever more funds from the public, members of whom have also to work restraints without the luxury of an bottomless pit of money or source of income | - | - | Norwich |

|-----|---------------------|-----|---|--|---------------|---------------|
| 762 | 14/01/2019 18:10:08 | No | At this present time, although year-on-year the police have had increases in their funding, the public perception of 'better policing' has fallen, with this in mind, and, having had personal experience of recent failings, when requesting help, I would not be able to see my way clear to further fund a failing public body. | - | But I didn't. | Broadland |
| | | | I think they've made enough cuts to the police service, and yes they deserve more income however I feel from the police officers I have spoken to that the sergeants and other offices (in and around NORWICH/Norfolk) are not pushing /questioning their teams as to why jobs are not being completed or spending more than the average time responding to a job. (sitting in the station and saying they're too busy to take on other jobs from control room). Surly someone is looking at the CAD figures for teams and stations on shift to see where the issues are. Also people abuse four hours at time and a half for overtime finishing on a rest day. Some times these are ligitimate but I bet not all of them and the majority of them are not. | | | |
| 763 | 14/01/2019 18:16:38 | No | Despite a previous increase PCSOs have been sacked and Police officers are not obvious on the streets. A brand new Police station has been built but it is closed more often than not. When people spend more money they expect to see what that money is spent on. | - | - | South Norfolk |

| 833 | 15/01/2019 21:16:20 | No | I would be willing to spend more on the police force is assured the 9's service would stop being abused by mental health trust and ambulance service. The police are there 24-7 but increasingly their resources and man power are used to go chasing around in signs of safety cases - often these are false claims as the person calling up is drunk and not at the place they say they are which means manpower hours tied up chasing around after mentally ill people who just want attention. The police force is not an extension of the NSF trust which has the mental health contract for service in Norfolk & Suffolk. | - | £16 per year (equivalent to 31p per week on a Band D property) | Unless NHS England and NSFT can put in place a mental health service in Norfolk which has 24/7 help line that the 9s can divert calls to. No to more money to have police - go chasing mental health patients. THAT IS NOT WHAT THE POLICE FORCE IS THERE FOR. they are not an extension of the NHS. If the money was to be spent on resources for policing matters then yes. BUT WHAT GUARANTEE CAN YOU GIVE WHERE THIS MONEY WILL BE SPENT? | Norwich |

I already pay income tax and national insurance, my pension contributions have gone up while the eventual return has plummeted and I will have to work for longer. I have been on a pay freeze for several years while prices keep rising. Council tax has already risen while council services have been drastically reduced so frankly no I am not willing to pay yet more for what should be a fundamental right for a full time worker in a modern democracy. Considering I am a police officer and therefore my working life would potentially be improved by more funding it would be easy to simply say "yes of course, the police need more money" but there is a bigger picture. Yet again those of us who do contribute are being asked to contribute more while receiving less. Whereas those who choose not to contribute towards society are the ones who claim the most from it. A more honest and courageous discussion regarding some of the nonsense the police and other public services deal with would bear more fruit than taking this easy option of simply asking for ever more funding.

| | | | | But do they actually fire Chief Constables? Nine out of ten times you read any rank of policing has "resigned" so they can hold on to their pension. On top of this, a PCC can only be fired by somebody within the Government, who is unlikely to know about the feelings in the region where they are unhappy with a PCC normally i would say yes but i believe that most "on the street"policing is retrospective and not proactive like it used to be in my youth and i have now lost all faith in policing and as a pensioner finding even more increases on my council tax is just not feasible as my state pensions do not get increased anywhere near enough to meet these increases!! | | |

| | | | Policing is constantly used for people who are abusing alcohol and drugs and think I shouldn't have to pay for further policing when it goes in people like that. I live on a road in Cromer, where there is constantly police cars late at night, dealing with interruptions and not for important things. Where are the police when I have to walk home at night on my own? No police cars to be seen when I'm walking home gone 11pm after work as they are constantly dealing with drug and alcohol abuse. I am currently going through a domestic abuse case with my family and can barely get them to reply for this. | | | | Given the existing outrageous levels of local taxation its an absolute disgrace that the residents of the area are being asked to pay even more. Given that most of the local inhabitants are of a certain demographic, some on much reduced incomes, are hardly in a position to pay more. | | | | I would not normally bother to complete a survey of this nature and hitherto have always excepted the inevitable of a rise in the policing precept. However in recent years our area and indeed particularly our village of Poringland, has seen nothing in the way of a policing presence. Intelligence on criminality (drug distribution) is not pursued and crimes go un-investigated. If you stopped some of the wholesale waste of money that continually goes ion within your service, disguised as "re-organisation" (departments moved from building to building, redundancies only to re-employ the same staff because you realise you cant do without them etc etc) then perhaps I would have a more sympathy with your request to increase the tax payers contribution. | | | |

| | | | What for? As far as i see Police waste far too much money over nothing! Learn to be efficient with what you have and the result will be the very same. If i had a choice on what to do with the tax money i pay i believe it would be million times better spent on Health, Education and Social Care, then we would not need the Police anyway... | | | |

| | | | | Following the royal accident(amongst others), the result of which is to be a decrease in speed limits and an increase in cameras. As speed apparently was the only deciding factor of these accidents we have been told that these measures will reduce the number of accidents and also financially penalise those speeding. The result of which means less incidents for the Police and other emergency services to attend. giving them more time in other areas such as community and crime detection. Also an increase in revenue due to the fines, these measures county wide should surely mean a more effective efficient service without the need to increase Council tax. | - | - | |

Funding extra policing via local taxation is plain wrong.

This should be funded by Central Government- we are in danger of implementing postcode policing, where some counties can afford more, some a lot less- the government MUST fund policing properly and reverse the cuts of the last 9 years. Locally, we have axed PCSO's and the gap has not been properly filled- to say otherwise is disingenuous at best.
