

No increase/ Increase	If the cap were lifted?	Comments?	District
No increase in the policing element		The police are cutting their public service rather than increasing their service level while the general public are having to make cuts. The police are becoming less visible and making mistakes that cause considerable distress.
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	A well resourced police force is essential to keep the people of the county safe in ever more uncertain and dangerous times. The impact of cuts over recent years can be seen almost everywhere and I think I speak for many people when I say I would be prepared to pay more for our police. 50p a week isn't much to one household but could make so much difference.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Other than going for easy targets to make money it isn't obvious what the police do these days! There is no presence. Laws are flouted all the time because people know they can get away with it. You miss opportunities to generate income - Here's an example. Employ a traffic warden in Wisbech (or maybe 2) they would pay for themselves in no time and after that it's all profit. - Is that such a difficult concept? I agree - get rid of PCSO's they are pointless and a drain in finances. Employ more police men and women. Until you sort out policing then I don't see how you can ask for more money - it just seems like a black hole to me. Police need to be present and interested in helping the local community.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I am unhappy that seven fully trained Officers have been taken off front line Policing and given "soft" jobs as engagement officers. This work does not require a Warrant.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I was very disappointed at the loss of the Community Support Police team.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		As a single working parent, I struggle to pay council tax bills as it is any increase would not help me at all! The cuts shouldn't be happening and the money should be sourced elsewhere not from our pockets, although this town needs policing support, as the area is getting significantly worse!	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	As Norfolk's Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC), Lorne Green, gears up to set the policing budget for 2018/19, there has today been some welcome news from central government. big rise coming!!!	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	waste of time gov needs to cap the rise at 2%again	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk

No increase in the policing element of		When I wanted police because my ride on mower was stolen all they could say was we will give you crime ref number.if you hear anything let us know.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Get rid of PCCs. Not needed and poor governance as linked to a political party. I acted as poll clerk in another area and no-one knew there was an election or who camcidates were.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	As senior citizens we'd find it difficult to pay extra for policing, the government should pay for extra staff Norfolk has a growing population in vast rural area compared to density of London where police are a visible presence in spite of crime numbers. We need a more visible presence of officers combined with more neighbourhood watch schemes.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Important police services are kept to a high level as possible	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of		You are not listening to the concerns of the public, safer neighbourhood teams have gone and yet you lie to the public saying they are doing all this work. Grave error in deleting the rank of PCSO in Norfolk. Believe it or not you will realise that when your officers are stuck at accidents and crime scenes.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		No	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		Do NOT raise the council tax. Why don't you merge with more police forces	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Cancel the "over sea's aid budget, £13 billion, get out of Europe now, 9 billion net, cancel HS2, 38 billion and rising. "Make the UK Great Again."	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	As you say 80% of costs are wages. Until you tackle the pension problem ie the ability to retire on full pay after a certain number of years service, sickness etc. and bring them more in line with the private sector you will continue to lose support.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	I have concerns about the cost of late night policing in Prince of Wales Road, Norwich. I think there would be scope for saving police time would be significant if a zero tolerance to bad behaviour and violence arising because of excessive drink and illegally sold drugs was enforced.No doubt in the weeks ahead, yet another death or serious injury will arise in this area because of anti-social behaviour. That would be a good time to change the approach to policing this serious problem. The current strategy seems to be based on containing the problem via throwing money at the problem from the police budget. Why not implement a policy of reducing the scale of the problem via a zero-tolerance approach? Thereafter, once the problem is reduced in scale a policy of containment could be implemented and this would be more socially and financially acceptable. I think that 'conserving' a behaviour pattern that is clearly wrong is unacceptable to decent taxpayers.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per
No increase in the policing element		You asked for more money to help keep PCSO's, now you get rid of them and still want more money from me? No. Give us our PCSO's back first	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		My issue with funding the police is that while some may do 'their jobs' it's increasingly frustrating to see the rise in wildlife crime whilst being aware that in some eyes the police provide private security for those undertaking illegal hunting. The Hunting Act is complex but when photographs are in the public domain of police officers riding on hunt quad-bikes then the mind boggles as to whether they are seeking to uphold the law? There has been a rise in the persecution of badgers with the number of dead badgers at it's highest (in the first 3 months of 2017) since records began in 1962. I'm angry that in 2017 much of our wildlife is abused with those perpetrating the act(s) walking away without facing and form of punishment.	Broadland

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I find it totally unpalatable that the Treasury have made the Force pay a one off 1% bonus to Police officers. This is not because Police Officers do not deserve it. It is more about the fact that the Treasury is getting money back from the precept in the form of income tax and to the sum of approx. £114,000. Explanation £38,000 x 1%=£380 per officer Taxed at 20% = £76 per officer Multiplied by 1500 officers = £114,000 Looking nationally at 126,000 officers this is over £950,000 Why has this not been raised with the Government and complained about publically. It is shocking. As a political voice of the Police and your local public I urge you to take this issue up with the Treasury and to indicate that this should never be repeated.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	A local police presence is important in our village/small town.. Reassures the residents and deterrent to those up to no good.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Policing in Norfolk is entirely inefficient. Why is no emphasis placed on having a visible police presence in local towns and villages? By making the police a more visible force, surely the results can only be positive in reducing crime and deterring potential criminals. Perhaps, if funding is so desperate and Mr Green is so passionate about his job, he (along with his staff) could donate his salary and work on a voluntary basis?	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		How can you close my local rural police station to the public, get rid of the rural PCSOs and then ask for more money? I would be happy to pay more if it meant that our rural communities had at the very least a police station to walk into when needed. Quite frankly i find the suggestion to raise the budget in light of the cuts already made to rural policing utterly astonishing.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Breckland

No increase in the policing element		Scandalous even asking. The public should NOT be funding the budget deficit. As a retired Officer the Constabulary takes the simple option of not recruiting while ignoring the roles being performed, primarily by Police Staff, that in many cases could be reduced or removed altogether. This is not a slur on staff in those roles but there needs to be a radical review. Yes I appreciate that there have already been reviews and staff cuts to meet reduced funding but traditionally within the Service exists dishonesty by only presenting solutions what Chief Officers want or are expected to hear. In simple terms decide what the operational Policing needs are for each District, decide what the effective level of supervision and then work backwards to enable the necessary support for that front line. By being honest and realistic you will find a raft of roles that can be greatly reduced or dispensed with altogether, but there is never a will to do this. Hope this helps?	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	When the cuts were announced I strongly felt the public should be consulted as to whether we should/could pay more. I am pleased to see we are being consulted. I would pay more but would like communities to take some responsibility over local issues and I would pay more to our town council to assist with this. I'm lucky I can afford it and do believe if it could be, it should be voluntary as I acknowledge that some can't not afford to pay extra. I appreciate this voluntary payment would mean it is difficult to plan budgets. Thank you BBC Radio Norfolk for making me aware of this consultation.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Increase in funding for police should come from our current taxes, not by increasing our costs. It is outrageous that the 'extra' funding from our pockets is announced before it has been agreed by District Authorities around the country.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
No increase in the policing element		If other elements of the Council Tax could be scaled back pro rata I'd be happy to support an increase of the policing part.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	you will raise it by the maximum you can no matter what anyone votes for!!!!	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			Broadland

No increase in the policing element of		No more precept raises. Enough! Central Government should be increasing their funding. It is unsustainable locally through an indirect tax.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of		It is unrealistic to expect any increase when wages are not going up and, in a lot of circumstances, are in fact dropping. Additionally the unemployment rate in Norfolk is rising and results in families having financial difficulties which any increase in Council Tax Tercan can only make worse.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	no more	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I think the fact you are getting rid of pcso's is a terrible decision and is perjudice against 'non police officers'. The pcc's decision is not academically correct, nor is it in the spirit of a great deal of other agencies including Norfolk county council who understand that changing families takes work and time. The removal of the only active department that puts engagement and families first (not just safeguarding or 'firefighting'). Mr green is in his 'term looking after norfolk' has failed his community and failed in his term keeping people safe. If the pcc looks at any academic study done around policing you will see that people need networks with each other to feel safe and 'self police' and ultimately costs less. The removal of officers that do this and generate so much good will to self police will disappear on the disappearance of the Pcso. Police officers are too busy and most are not interested to do the work done by a Pcso. I will not vote for you again. Raise the tax and blame the lack budget. Removal of pcso's will cost you more in the long run - check your figures in 18 months around failed service recovery.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Get rid of the Commissioner & deputy for a considerable saving, we managed before without them & they are not cheap!	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		They increased there precept by2% every year during the council tax freeze. Cutting the flash BMW they ride about in would be a start.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would happily pay a little more if it ,eans we keep officers where it matters	Breckland
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Community policing has helped the locals at the Light of Life cafe in Ormesby. If this goes, older people & those with disabilities, the most vulnerable, will be disadvantaged	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	No	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	In the face of central government cuts, we have no option but to increase local taxation to keep the level of policing the county requires.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	fed up with year on year above inflation increases	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	The police can't function properly without any PCSOs	Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
No increase in the policing element		How are people supposed to afford the ever increasing cost of public services? Every year above inflation increases are unsustainable.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	we do-NOT - need a Police Commissioner -SAVE lots of money that way let the Police Chief look after the Police Budget	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Am on a limited income, but welcome the police support. We were burgled and lost all the family jewelery, even prized items like wedding rings, worth little on melt down. These thieves are heartless, and others are joining in to plunder our 'soft touch' villages.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		no rise in council tax.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		The government should be paying for this out of our tax.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		times are hard	North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou	I don't believe that doing away with the PCSO's is a good thing. When there is an event being held in the City, or other large towns, where roads are closed and a Police presence is required for crowd control or public safety, how many Officers would be called upon and how many would be left in the County to carry on with normal Police duties? For example, the recent Lincoln Christmas Market in the City of Lincoln, there were many PCSO's as well as regular Police Officers on duty to help with the huge crowds of people. I don't think replacing the PCSO's with a lesser number of regular Police Officers is acceptable, especially as it is proposed to increase general staff levels as well.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		No increase until the county council cancels the pay rise they gave to themselves	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	no more this time	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		Only council tax payers have the authority to vote on any council tax increase. A large percentage of people in Norfolk do not pay council tax.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	The community needs to be aware that Police Services are essential services. It should be published more on what the effects would be if there were further cuts and guarantees on what the public would see if we were to pay more.	Norwich
No increase in the policing eleme			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	Don't drop CSO,s. I,ve seen the value on the streets with the contact and respect they get from some of less fortunate members of society. Please increase the policing of our roads, there are too many dangerous drivers (young , middle life and eldely) making life hazardous and even life threatening for the many. If we have more visible policing it WILL lead to people behaving , I promise you that.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou	Central Government should be providing this funding, not the council tax payer.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	Any increase should be concentrate on visible policing, i.e. to deter criminal and anti social behaviour	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		King's Lynn and West Norfolk

No increase in the policing element of		Why should Tax Payers be burdened financially when the government could easily afford to increase the police budget by cutting welfare or overseas budgets.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of		When I have to make cutbacks because the government am not funding me properly I do not see why I have to fund other organisations who are also not being properly funded by the government.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		My opinion that all the Chief Constables of all constabularies should work together to put a case forward to Government to contribute more not more from the publics pocket again! Moral amongst officers is currently low due to pay, pensions, working conditions and lack of support. Do something for the people who on a daily basis make a difference.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		No increases please, we pay enough	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	I would be prepared to pay more than a 2% increase IF I could see some improvement in policing. The recent debacle in Cromer, together with the fact that nothing has been done on the few occasions I have contacted the police make me unwilling to waste more money.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Absolutely no increase in polive funding or any local government funding is needed . These bodies need to cut there Cloth the same as everybody else	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	The PCC should consider the size of his own budget and make cuts. There seems to be duplication with so-called specialist leads mirroring posts in the Police Service. Grants are being used to fill gaps in provision caused by other cuts eg Youth Service, Careers Advice, support for carers, young people leaving care etc, etc	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I would support a greater increase in the precept IF YOU KEEP OPEN THE PEO AT THETFORD. The decision makers are blindly failing to appreciate the fundamental value of this facility in the town.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Cromer where were you!!!	North Norfolk

No increase in the policing element		I cannot support your proposal to put PCSOs out of work. They joined your force in response to recruitment publicity and are often the visible face of the police in the neighbourhood.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		A fairer taxation system should provide for this not causing more problems by further austerity measursy	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		I have no confidence in the Chief Constable or his deputy following the debacle in Cromer in the summer.They did not "get it wrong" they made conscious decisions & failed to protect the public. An increase would be throwing good money after bad.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	The Met Police is to hold an "urgent" review of a rape case after being accused of failing to disclose vital evidence. how much did the police spend on this	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	The police do a good job and need MORE resources, not LESS	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	We vitally need confidence (especially as we grow older; I am 86) that we are really safe in our homes and on our streets. That confidence has gone, and if the only way to restore it is to pay more , then so be it. If some can be achieved by further economies then all well and good. PAY MUCH MORE IF WE MUST, but confidence in our safely is PARAMOUNT.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		No increase in council tax for this year	King's Lynn and West Norfolk

No increase in the policing element		Yet again the hard working public are expected to pay up to support a national obligation. Rather than expect those of us who work for a living to pay for the Police upkeep the Commissioner should be joining with other Commissioners to put pressure on the Government to allocate a meaningful budget. At no time have I heard any criticism of the Government or a call for unity against an unrealistic and dwindling budget, all I hear is "Let the little people pay". I've heard nothing mentioned about recouping money from businesses or individuals for Police resources, such as the Friday, Saturday and Public Holiday demands, Nightclubs, Take-a-ways, Taxi ranks (Prince of Wales Road springs to mind), Football clubs and all the other establishments who demand a massive Police presence yet we recover very little of the true cost of those operations. I have not received a decent (or Cost of living) pay rise in so many years I've forgotten what it was like to have spare cash, why should I have to see my wages fall even further behind with the true cost of living. I'm angry at the thought that we (Police Officers) should be asked to vote for an increase in what I consider an unreasonable Tax.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	The economies of scale of merging with the Suffolk force seem very convincing	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	2% a fair rise no more!!	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Asking for "This would raise £7.2m and enable significant additional investment in frontline local and operational policing". Of course we are not just going to hand over this sort of increase with on one sentence.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	No justification by merely saying an improved service, justify any increase not just expect it.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Pension does not allow me to increase payment in excess of existing rate	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element

No increase in the policing element		There has been a year on year increase in council tax always by the constabulary. The only time the police are remotely visible, is March when the council tax is raised. For eleven months of the year they are only visible when they are carrying out speeding campaigns. They have already booked, in advance of the drink drive campaign, court time. Where has that money come from? The police has also invested in a new speed camera vehicle. where did the police find the funds for that ? The question also has to be asked where the monies from speed awareness courses has gone. Clearly the police receive the monies for speed awareness courses, what is the Chief Constable doing with that. Perhaps the police should provide, under the freedom of information act, should provide all details of its income and where the chief constable is spending it, as it does not appear to being spent where it is needed.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		NO!	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	1) Thank you for consulting on this issue. 2) Adequate funding for policing is vital for social cohesion and order in a democratic society.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Retain PCSOs or other community policing personnel	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	People should be happy yo pay the price if a cup of coffee to get good quality policing. Those on benefits and low banding should pay less or nothing.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	On condition that the extra money raised goes to visible front line local policing.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	i feel there has already been enough cuts by our government and local council and it has to stop now no one would mind paying more income tax to fund our services taxes at a local level are innocuous and often effect those least able to pay policing is already at dangerously low levels i know this be speaking to officers on the ground who say it at worst levels they can remember time for austerity to go and proper funding of services to happen.	North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	I appreciate it is a time of austerity and we as a rural county are being penalized by this government. If we pay more it will only result in the government eventually committing less - a catch 22. The government needs to wake up and stop wasting money on projects like HS2 and Brexit and align funds to areas that need it. There is still room to trim some fat in Norfolk by the police working closer with partners and more efficiently. The police remain top heavy and I for one travel the roads daily and never see a police car, but they are all sat at HQ. the money is available to build new police stations but by the time they are built, e.g. North Walsham, things have changed and thus their occupancy will be less that 80%. What a waste. Why on earth wasn't the fire service moved in there... oh well that may be because the police running the fire service would mean it would cost more. Efficiency and management savings can be made in the police, a full review of the pensions and working arrangements is required, gold plating of benefits cannot be allowed to continue,	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	Get rid of pointless bodies like the Police and Crime Commissioner and spend the money on more fully trained policemen	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	every year you want above inflation rise no NO NO	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing eleme			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing eleme			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	I would be happy to pay the extra amount if assured it would definitely go to the police and not in councillors pay.	Norwich
No increase in the policing eleme		This money should come from central government. They are fine with reduced costs and working a few hours a day. Always in if its beneficial for them. Police are over worked and underpaid. Do an amazing job, but it is mostly people that don't put anything in to our society that they end up dealing with. Its a joke.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Broadland
No increase in the policing eleme		not if I had all the money in the world would I support this increase.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Broadland
No increase in the policing eleme		There is no way I would agree to the increase!	Norwich
No increase in the policing eleme			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou
No increase in the policing eleme			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	hope the gov caps the increase	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	What added value does he honestly make?	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	The Norfolk police are valued and are seen out in our community, they work hard and as they are in our community, you build up a trust and speak freely, and help them as much as possible, I would not like this to change due to under funding	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Regarding PCSOs - such a shame they are going. They provide an excellent link in rural communities. I had a bike accident (head injury) and a PCSO attended to make sure I could get to hospital as the wait for an ambulance was 2 hours. They also deal with low level anti social behaviour effectively.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	as a pensioner an extra £1000 a year is a lot to find - maybe 10 pence a week	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Merge two or three county forces and reduce overheads - only one CC and one senior management team, one PCC etc - and create expert specialist teams. Move away from old, outdated, 'county' identities.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		I supported last year, however reading between lines cannot support an ongoing increase. After all we in general public either working or pensioners do not receive guaranteed increases.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I think it's important that we pay for our safety and security.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I have been paying more and more each year to fund policing but see nothing for it. I hear sirens but cannot remember when I last saw a policeman.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
No increase in the policing element		After hearing how Norfolk Council awarded themselves 11% wage increase. I don't see how they can do that and not award that money instead to the Police?	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Services are being run down because of cuts in funding and yet there appears to be some reluctance to put up taxes. Most people I speak to would be willing to see an increase in the taxes they pay in order to keep or improve the services we all rely on..	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk

No increase in the policing element		Reduce down wasteful department such as safeguarding and give us more actual police on the streets.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	If we want a well funded police we need to accept we have to pay for it	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	any more is a rip off	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Get rid of the Commissioner and all of his department and use that money to fund the Police	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
No increase in the policing element		police in Norfolk are historically very poor at solving crime-better training is required,not yet more money	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	You can't keep throwing money at everything you have to ensure you are using your resources efficiently. Your comments on doing away the [assistants?] need to be followed through.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		over paid over staffed	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	three cars to shut one lane on the a11 behind a broken down car almost completely off the road traffic managed fine for 15mins before the police blocked one lane causing gridlock overmanned come to mind	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	in these times of terrorist activity we need our police protection	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		The police are never seen in this part of South Norfolk, so why should I pay for a service that I do not receive	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would
No increase in the policing element		There's nothing left	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	If it means local police will actually be able to deal with crimes that are not serious but non the less a crime. As it's taken 4 months to deal with my complaint and we have proof and it's still not been sorted. Then if a rise may help then yes I am all for it.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would be very willing to pay for increased front line policing. HOWEVER not if we are to see police standing by watching law-breakers as they did with the travellers in Cromer. Everyone must be equal in the eyes of the law!	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	More local policing (PCSOs)	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	we all are forced to live within our money limits - I find it staggering that you consider that this does not or should not apply to you!	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I think Police and other social issues should have increased spending from central government paid for by increased personal and business taxation.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	none that are polite!	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Policing should be funded by the Government - and not topped up locally by the general public - for services already provided and already paid for by normal taxation.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	As I said when the proposal to have a separate "police tax" was introduced, several years ago, this would give Central Govt. a good excuse to cut back severely on their funding and put the whole amount onto local ratepayers. Policing needs to be totally centrally funded under a more fair apportionment of those funds than we have now. The current rules get "skewed" by whoever is in power at Westminster and seeking to score points over the opposition.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		We live in a Band E house and pay more council tax than we can really afford. Feel very peeved that people on benefits who do not even try to work get everything paid for. We have always struggled to pay our bills by working. I know this is a different subject but it is my personal opinion.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Are we saying that everybody's council tax goes up by 25p per week i.e. £13 per year and would this stay the same at the end of the year if council tax rises?	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	A return to PCSOs to support the community as well as the Police & improve services.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I believe that we should have a well funded police force	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland

Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	You cannot ask the public for more money when their chief officers are riding around in the very latest model car costing thousands. They are paid enough and should provide their own cars	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	For the extra payment I would expect to see a more visible police presence.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	no	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		It's difficult but our wages haven't increased.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	Great care needed to avoid being 'pulled in' to having to spend a very large sum for example on the over-extended landfill search for the missing RAF man. I realise this was not a Norfolk Police issue but we can all see how Police forces can be 'shamed' in to doing more especially when individuals can seem to pressure Police beyond what many would feel is reasonable.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		My income has NOT increased. Therefore, NO increase in the police part of the council tax. I have NEVER been asked how the police part of council tax is spent...so NO NO NO to any increase!	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of		Definitely NO increase in the police element of council tax. We have NO control how any money is spent. So...NO increase in the police part of the council tax.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would willing pay the extra tax PROVIDED it is used for front line policing and not back room staff or beaurocracy. I would also dispense with the Commisioner, a waste of tax payers money	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	In these very difficult policing times, and we see it on a wide-scale - terrorism and people being assaulted - it is ridiculous to consider not giving the police what they need to do their job. It's needs to be evaluated what level of funding our police need and that provided. I feel very strongly on this.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		I think all of the emergency services including the RNLI should be totally central funded due to the fact that there is so much cross-boundary cooperation they are all working toward the same goal and sharing resources it would create the real United Kingdom.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Having a centralised control centre covering all Norfolk emergency services that could work symbiotically.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		South Norfolk

No increase in the policing element		I am confident that considerable cost savings can be made and still provide a good effective service. Every aspect of expenditure needs examining in the way a private institution would.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	WE NEED MORE POLICE>	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I'd be more inclined to pay if the front line services were maintained. Reopen the public desk at DM for instance.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	Real policing please chasing real criminals not motorists.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		It seems, to me, the quality of policing has dropped already. I can't ask for more money if I overspend. It appears all local authorities could, and should cease the it profligacy with others money.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Prefer to pay increased tax towards social care and children's services not the police.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Council tax is seen by most members of the public as the tax that funds council services. If the police need more money then this should be through general taxation which I believe should be increased. Dumping increases to police funding into council tax lacks transparency and allows the government to maintain austerity measures and low taxation without proper accountability.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Police need to make smarter use of resources, and negotiate better deals on fleet lease hire, and efficient estate planning.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	You can't shortchange basic security. We need effective policing, whatever the cost	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		Increase funding through recovery of "proceeds of crime".	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		We police ourselves these days and the few police there are seem to be interested in traffic and serious crime only not in protecting ordinary citizens and everyday matters	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element		Resources and efforts should be focussed on securing additional funding from central government. Norfolk is a majority Conservative area therefore has political standing in Westminster. Council Tax should not be used to plug holes in budgets.	Breckland

No increase in the policing element of		As a pensioner I simply do not have the money to keep up with ever rising costs, particularly when Councillors and others award themselves such huge pay rises in their expenses. Fairness comes from the top.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element of		We need all our Council Tax increase to go towards paying increases to our poor councillors pay	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	I feel central government should be doing more to support all front line staff such as Police, NHS, Military Forces and Education.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element of		My pension and benefits attached are under attack, my pot is empty	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Please put more "Bobbies" on the streets. I haven't seen one walking for years.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	If a sizeable percentage increase is applied there needs to be a comprehensive statement as to exactly what the tax payer is getting for his/her money. e.g how many officers, return of PCSOs? Motivating our local police force	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Wages set to fall by 0.5% in 2018 live in the real world!!!	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		WE HAVE PAID MORE MONEY OUT EACH YEAR AND FRANKLY THEY SHOULD CUT THE TOP RANKING OFFICERS AND PCC POST!	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of		A friend has already gone through the "at risk" procedure at the Constabulary. Despite an amalgamation with Suffolk in many areas there is no money to spend on anything and drastic cuts have meant so many cutbacks on staff, salaries, no car parking spaces, No money to rent car parking spaces, no police on the beat, now no PCSO's..the list is endless. Moral is at an all time low and whatever the decision on the Police Budget this will not compensate for any of the above.....If the government continue with their stance on funding this will mean further redundancies anyway whatever the outcome of this survey!!!	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	every year you want MORE MORE MORE	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	All other areas of life are being subjected to cost cutting at a time when salaries are not increasing, so I'm afraid that the police will have to deal with this process as well. It would be better if central government ceased their reduction in central funding.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich

Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	I was very disappointed regarding comments on removing re support officers role as these are the only 'police ' presence seen in my area there appears to be less community action on basics such as speeding in 30 mile an hour limits or cycling on paths - unless we monitor ourselves I would like to see more evidence that there has been in updating regarding police terms and conditions e.g overtime sick pay, pay grades and pensions as per other public sector services	Broadland
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element		You can tell the history of the. Head Officer by his plans for the Constabulary, invest in detectives who spend longer putting the file together than the actual sentence imposed in real terms, rather than preventing/reducing crime in the first place!	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would be prepared to pay the higher amount, ONLY if this would benefit the small villages, I live in Northwold, many of the surrounding villages are not severed or protected leaving us as sitting ducks for break-in and robbery's. I think the increase would need to benefit everyone including villages in and around Norfolk, at present we have ZERO support. I believe lots of villages to feel the same regarding no current support. If this would not help us I would not want to pay anything, sorry!	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Efficient policing properly funded is essential for the safety and security of all.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Although I would pay the extra tax, the Government needs to provide proper funding for services and local authorities. I would urge the Police and Crime Commissioner to fight Norfolk's corner in this regard by requesting the Government do so.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Too much money squandered on BMW vehicles and a computer system that keeps police officers indoors.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		struggling to pay council tax now due to on same wage I was on 3 years ago	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Operation close pass, operations that target drink drivers, operations that target those who speed, and other proactive operations that help to keep cyclists safe are exactly what is needed from the local plod. I fully support these measures and I am very happy to pay an additional £25 per year to support them	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland

No increase in the policing element		There is increased pressure on all public services for funding not only for policing. I would therefore prefer an increase in my Council Tax to fund other NCC services as well as Norfolk constabulary.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Working in the public sector my pay has also been capped and I should not have to find extra funding from a salary which has fell behind over the past few years	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would be more than happy for a price increase on my council tax to help secure adequate policing	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	The PCC need to have the resources available to ensure community safety in Norwich City Centre. This means the retention of the visible presence of Police Community Support Officers to re-assure the community and deter crime. The local police should also have the resource to participate in the community anti-social initiatives that would minimise the deterioration of the area including initiatives that would minimise cycle theft and dumping of materials. In particular I would like a comment from the PCC approach to cycle crime in light of the rise of the use of the bicycles in Norwich.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element		Council tax has gone up by £60 last year & £60 this year. It is impossible to pay these increases when you live on a pension. Any more would be unacceptable.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Another increase is outrageous. The police should be funded properly by central government. It is wholly unfair that we are again being asked to bridge the gap caused by government incompetence.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	no more than the average increase in the public wages	Norwich
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk

No increase in the policing element of		At what point will the police actually investigate thefts with any interest whatsoever?! Surely, tackle the small crimes and the perpetrators wont keep doing them and more of them and larger scale. The general opinion of most persons are that the police `arent interested`...	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	year after year after year you want more more more enough is enough	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		I pay far too much. You need to make do with what you have	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would
No increase in the policing element of		Over the years I have paid a small fortune through council tax towards the police costs. When needed they have failed me badly. Enough is enough!!	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	Whilst I acknowledge that policing has changed and we need to move forward with new ideas I also believe that a more thorough check on the whole budget could find some savings. Every year the cost has risen where as councils faced with the same constraints have studied budgets and found savings. I agree with the proposal to finish with PCSOs and therefore cannot understand why there needs to be the proposal for such a large budget increase.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I am very concerned about losing local community officers in the city centre of Norwich. Since their implementation social behaviour has massively improved and I dread a return to the old ways.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		too much waste git rid of the pcc for a start	Norwich

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Why don't we see the PCC leading the case to Government to fight for Norfolk's case for more cash and in releasing the cap on Council Tax. Whilst you may hold the Chief Constable to account, it can only be against the resources you provide him and we haven't seen anything from you to articulate Norfolk's case. Ditto in relation to persuading Norfolk's MPs to fight for additional resources for the Constabulary.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	£1.5 million wasted in landfill search	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
No increase in the policing element of			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Thought he had all the money in the world	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It is fairly obvious that in order to have a safe county the police need resources to keep us safe	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		I would not agree to any increase when you just had a 2% increase which was to save frontline officers and within months you got rid of 150 frontline officers and the so called 82 Police officers getting recruited instead are only filling people retiring rather than increasing numbers!	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Others also raising their part of, council tax. It is rising too far when I'm on fixed income. Others should have been as efficient as police then the police could 'police' as opposed to be glorified social workers, mental, health care workers etc. Other agencies need to be effective in meeting their communities needs as at moment, Police are doing other agencies roles	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		sack the pcc	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I have already sent an e-mail about this subject	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Last year we paid 2% ? to keep things on as they are. Sacking 120 PCSO's isn't 'keeping things as they are'	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	The Police are so worth it	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		King's Lynn and West Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	No	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		No	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Although supporting Police, there are all other raises in Council Tax in addition to police precept. I'm on a fixed income & have to live within my means. Police are increasingly taking on wider responsibilities, they need to pass these back to social care & councils, highways etc, rather than trying to cover everybody else's emergency out of hours. If other agencies trimmed their fat and looked at needs & performance in the way Norfolk Constabulary has, then this should be possible. The effectiveness of Norfolk Constabulary means they are left to sort out problems caused by gaps in other services.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I will agree to an increase, But I do think that government need to look at the cuts they are making. Our Police do a difficult job and suffer a lot of abuse, they need support not reducing. Our country has grown and keeps growing, we need the police to deal with what is happening now.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I know that policing is important and underfunded, but so is social care, which I work in and is on its uppers. I understand that, with limited funds, you have to prioritise, but what reasons do you have for prioritising policing over social care?	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Invest in community policing. It's what you committed to but you are choosing to destroy it. Without having strong links with our communities the police will lose public confidence and so much valuable information.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Public sector has had to make budget cuts and rightly so (in the past). My biggest concern is rural burglaries and dog theft. I appreciate you cannot police the whole of Norfolk but I would like you to use social media to explain how the police budget is being spent e.g. four teams out patrolling rural Norfolk throughout the night stopping any suspicious vehicles.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element		Should come from central government	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		I'd like the PCC to lead a public debate about merging Norfolk Constabulary with neighbouring forces to make an East Anglian Constabulary.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	There is no detail in your request for a high increase in funding. Substantial investment is not sufficient to ask for such an increase. Do you think tax payers are crazy? .	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		IF the government chased some of the billionaires who syphon off millions to tax havens while telling me (a pensioner) that I am underpaid by 18p in tax, then I might think differently.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Although I have indicated supporting a rise, enough is enough. The constant increase cannot continue. We pay more and get less. I never see a police Officer in our village. Community policing is non-existent. As Austerity bites crime will rise, people are desperate	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		if as the govt says there are more people than ever working they should be collecting more taxes there are still too many civilian jobs in the police force	Broadland
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	A needs must	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	The removal of PCSO's is a false economy and will result in communities feeling less protected. There is precious little police presence now and the removal of these officers will make access to police support more difficult. This feels like a drift towards anarchy as public safety and prevention is abandoned in favour of simply recording crime.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
No increase in the policing element of			North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per
No increase in the policing element of		Our village is no longer going to be patrolled by a PCSO. Witness evidence and reporting of crime will suffer. Officers will not have time for the small, but important, matters. Why should we pay more for less?	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	More bobbies on the beat make us FEEL safe. Keep the policemen constant so they know the residents, and in particular the youths, know them.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	The more we can improve our police force the better. Residents helping to fund this is our only option and is needed. Everybody knows and shouts that we need more officers. The money has to come from somewhere!	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	over paid over staffed	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need to invest in our Policing Service	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Surely the obvious answer is to share Fire Service, loads of savings there, it's a no brainer	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	This still represents good value	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	we need to fund policing properly and this increase is nothing on my bill	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I've said 12% because the Police need help with the Government found wanting. As for the PCC why even bother	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Stop believing what the Chief Constable tells you. Go out independently and speak to officers, especially police pensioners. They will tell you where the money can be saved and what the problems really are. Senior officers are conning you.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	replace PCSO for uniformed police on a like for like basis	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of
No increase in the policing element		Police are working hard, but we all have to work to a budget. More cooperation is needed with the general public to better identify crime and reduce the work load on the police and the cost.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Even if I had all the money in the world	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	How will we know the extra paid will actually go to the police?	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element		Abolish the pcc. What do they do - no body knows. Who is the pcc accountable to?	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk

No increase in the policing element		The portrayed shortage of money is a result of years of managed building of business cases for extra pay and equipment to promote self importance.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		For Christ's sake stop hounding the tax paying public of Norfolk to make up shortfalls instigated by YOUR Conservative Government. Grow a pair and take the fight for funding to Government and don't continue to persecute Norfolk's tax payers which you and your predecessor BETT obviously see as the easiest route. And as for some of the proposed levels DONT EVEN THINK IT	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would be happy to pay even more. Our police do a great job and I hate to see them demoralised due to lack of funds.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	Whilst I would personally pay more I know many, especially those working in the public sector, who are really struggling to make ends meet now.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		too much time and money wasted on politically correct interference in peoples private lives and not enough on tackling real physical crime	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		No no no increases. We pay enough now.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	I would pay if the police investigated crimes committed properly not just the soft targets. I was burgled with photographs of the people, police work is not joined up, communication is bad and too slow	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I do not wish to pay any further money to the police since they've chosen to get rid of PCSO's. However, if they are reinstated, I would consider paying more...	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	More police funding to deal with 'repeat offender' drug use and begging in central Norwich.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Please DO NOT remove our PCSOs. They provide an essential part of local policing and their removal will, inevitably, lead to more crime and anti-social behaviour.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		any increase is very impactful when living on a budget especially when wages stay the same.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	Police support is vital in the community	Broadland

No increase in the policing element		I believe PCC's should be challenging the government on the effects of austerity, and demanding they start to fund local policing properly again, rather than implicitly supporting austerity by pushing the problem onto underfunded councils and council tax payers who are already struggling to make ends meet. Constantly raising council tax to pay for a multitude of services is not a long term viable option and will push more and more people into poverty, potentially increasing crime. The government DOES have the money, as the deal with the DUP showed. Those in positions of power who are able to challenge government policy should get some backbone and start doing so, not taking the easy way out and falling into Osbourns trap of letting institutions such as councils, hospital trusts etc, face public blame for the cuts that have and are continuing to be made.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
No increase in the policing element		There are many savings to be made from non-essential areas of the business without affecting staffing levels. The Council Tax should not be used and abused to fund the Police alone.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	Why do police retire at 50. While they employ civilian staff, At what cost, At the same time retired officers return as civilians, on higher salaries.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		if Norfolk police need to save money why are you recruiting ANOTHER assistant	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	My concern regarding paying extra, is will it just give the central government the opportunity to decrease the funding supplied by them even more?	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	why not keep the rise by inflation every year	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Funding should come from Central Govt not from taxpayers who haven't had a pay rise in years. I support the Police but austerity measures can't continue any longer.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Policing needs to focus on its core objectives of investigating crime, arresting offenders and of course keeping our roads safe. The police are spending too much time involved in mental health matters and social care, both of which have their own funding streams. If police just did policing, I am sure the current budget would be sufficient.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		The more money the taxpayer puts in, the more the central government can, and are likely to, reduce funding, grants etc.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I only agree to pay more for bobbies on the street, not for higher ranking, pencil pushing, pretentious twits sitting on their butts in an office.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		The Police keep increasing their Council Tax percentage but we do not see any increase in Police contact. When everyone else can keep costs down, why can't the police? If paying a little more guaranteed better Policing I would support it, but it doesn't!!	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	We don't get any help with policing now in Shropham, especially with the terrible speeding problem we have. I can't see that it would change, no matter how much more we are expected to pay. We already pay £2400 a year in council tax as it is.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		I have had a pay freeze for the last 4 years so have to live within my budget, other organisations should do the same and learn to work smartly in order to achieve this.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		This man will never get my acceptance of an increase in council tax after his last request of an increase which was to save frontline policing, then on his watch and in a matter of months he decided to arguably get rid of the only police we ever saw which were police community support officers!	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		The inefficient use of officers needs to improve. When 7 officers are used to close a road due to a minor oil spill that could have had two cones and a sign, then you cannot justify increases in funding. Use what you have properly and then complain	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element		You want us to pay more when you aren't listening to us or doing what you're supposed to be doing. If it was increasing the money to provide EXTRA support and services but it isn't you want us to pay more for the useless service we're already getting! No way	Norwich
No increase in the policing element

No increase in the policing element of		Whats the point in increasing the tax in order to help continue whats already happening when what is already happening isnt meeting the communities needs! I would happily increase it 100% if it meant the police actually had the resources staff and training to do what they are supposed to do. After all animal welfare act offenses are being dealt with/not dealt with in a horrific way at the moment with the poorest excuses being given that beg belief.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It is right and just that we (the public) contribute to a top class Police service which will then be more capable to protect the vulnerable	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	It would appear that the Chief Constable has put together his plan for 20/20 which I would support therefore a 2% rise would be ok	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		I feel you are doing the Public a dis-service by scrapping PCSOs	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	I would like to see a full and informed debate on the decriminalisation of drugs and the proper allocation of police resources to tackling serious crime and community safety issues, whilst drug issues are properly managed by health and social care.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		Instead of asking for a rise in council tax do away with the pcc and entourage using the money saved there to pay for more hi tec gadgets for police officers	Broadland
No increase in the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of		I pay far too much for an inferior service	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	The country is in debt.& it needs dealing with. Increased police funding MIGHT mean increased results,	Breckland
No increase in the policing element of		Get rid of the PCC altogether as Lorne Green is worse than Steven Betts. I thought that was impossible!!!!	Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		I am not against more funding for the police but all our local services are being financially strangled by the government. We need a concerted approach by all services to be better funded, not a piecemeal approach.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need to keep the frontline staff. They are already stretched as it is.	South Norfolk

No increase in the policing element		you have previously asked for an increase in taxes with the promise to protect "frontline" policing but you have sacked the frontline PCSO'S and am going to replace them with detectives - we ordinary members of the community will not benefit from these officers	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I like to think that I am a law abiding person, however the last six or more occasions that I have had dealings with the police I have always been dissatisfied and frustrated by the incompetence and attitude of the police involved. I spent many years on the police authority as a county councillor. I have always tried to support the police but I find it more and more difficult to do so. If possible I should very much like to have a meeting with the commissioner.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		As with most votes, it is of no assurance to the voter whether the options will be implemented as they are not promised, merely suggestive possibilities. I would struggle to understand who would agree to such increases. Policing and crime prevention, in terms of police officers availability, numbers in the ground etc have already been reduced heavily in Norfolk with standard increases still being applied annually. So now we have to increase again to get those numbers back?! I don't buy it personally. As with national voting, local government in my opinion, will likewise distort the truth. Again, in my opinion, this is simply an engagement exercise and the outcomes are almost certainly already decided.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Very disappointed that you have laid off all the Community Support Officers - we are now left with nobody to keep an eye on Stalham.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Everyone needs to feel safe within our community which leads to a far happier place for us all to live.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Having paid you more last year, you want me to do it again for receiving a poorer service. Waste less money on somewhere like North Walsham which you refurbished, only to shut the public enquiry office. To boot you shut my local station completely. Now I'm left with nowhere to go! And I haven't seen a police officer out on the beat in my area for three years!!	North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou	Protection of the community from criminals must be a priority. can you introduce more technology to aid officers when attending crime scenes.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		Police and Crime Commissioner? unwanted and expensive layer of bureaucracy	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Broadland
No increase in the policing eleme		Personally, I would be happy to pay more for policing, because I appreciate that the police do an excellent job with already limited resources. However I am in a fortunate position where I can afford to pay more - many people are not. At a time when austerity is hurting working families and people who have jobs are relying on foodbanks to feed their children I don't think an extra council tax increase - even if it's only 2% - is a good idea. I think the additional money needed to support our police force should come from central government rather than from the people who have already borne the brunt of austerity, public spending cuts and rising inflation. If the government can find £1bn to give to the DUP then I am sure they can find some money for our hard-working police men and women.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	It is very important that the police and crime commissioner campaigns for more funding from central government, rather than putting the burden on local people through council tax.	Norwich
No increase in the policing eleme			Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing eleme			Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing eleme		Potentially making 150 people jobless was going to save money, why should we pay more for less protection. 10 forces are recruiting pcsos yet Norfolk will have none.. lots of big wigs who do nothing bar smile for the tv camera though!	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		Sack Lorne Green	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	I have been a copuncil tax payer in Norfolk for 18 years and for most, if not all, of that time the police part of the regular increases has been above that of the others. As council tax takes 20% of my state pension I don't wish to pay more.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		Not if I had all the money in the world - I would not support Lorne Green in any decision making	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou	Yes IF it goes towards actual police on the streets & not "community" plastic-play-&-pretend police :/	Norwich

No increase in the policing element		With PC's and PCSO's no longer visible and over spending on 2 hubs which will segregate Uniform and non uniform colleagues I would be against any rise. You should be making use of the stations you have available like the new Police Station at NW not sending people to Broadland business park miles away from the people they are Policing	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
No increase in the policing element		I am the partner of a police sergeant so I know how hard it is for him and his team. But more council tax isn't the answer, better spending of council tax in general is. I'm also a public sector worker (teacher) and I too would like extra money for education!	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would much rather spend an increase in Council tax on Policing than wasteful destructive projects like the NDR road building scheme!	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element		Prior to the 2020 policing plan I would quite happily have dipped into my pocket for extra funding in order to protect frontline policing. However, you are removing the eyes and ears of the police. You are removing the officers who deal with victims of low-level crime and the officers who deal with ASB that causes misery to the lives of people. You are removing the people who visit those with mental health issues who make numerous calls to police. You are removing the officers who are on the street, talking to the public, re-assuring them, bringing in intelligence. You are removing officers who deal with low-level crime, leaving police officers free to deal with more urgent things. You told us last year that the increase would protect the front line. You lied. When the CC and the PCC resign, I will quite happily contribute a greater amount to Norfolk Constabulary. Until then, if I had all the money in the world I will not voluntarily give any extra money to Norfolk Constabulary	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		If funding is increased by council Westminster will decrease its share of funding. This is why there should be no increase.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	It would be better if any raise was equivalent to the income tax reductions, rather than the figures provided here. The state is putting more on councils but not funding them. While residents can then make up some shortfall it should not outstrip the tax reductions. I would also like to see any raise to increase the council's income who can decide where it is best distributed rather than allotting it to the police prima facie. Law and order is not the biggest issue. Money needs to be allocated to enhancing in work benefits and getting people in to work	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	I think it is a good idea to remove PCSO's and concentrate on staff who can actually do things	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
No increase in the policing element		The best way to make a saving would be to make the Police and Crime Commissioner redundant.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Service is not good at the moment so until that improves it is pointless paying more as it will be poorly managed and wasted	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element		If I had all the money in the world, I would not increase my council tax, especially as long as Mr Green remains.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		with more homes being built you have the extra income from the council tax from these homes	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		The police are doing less and less with the money they have now so I don't see how an increase will make any difference to the policing in Norfolk.Why do we have three riot vans in King's Lynn?	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		none	Breckland

No increase in the policing element		We are all struggling with income and can't afford to pay you more council tax is already at an all time high	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need the Police	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		We live on Hargham Road in Shropham which was, an unclassified ,quiet road in a Hamlet, In the main we have no footpaths or street lights and we can not walk to the Village Hall or the post box because the road is too dangerous. Traffic through the village has increased in volume and speed to the extent that, despite our best efforts from our , Commuinty speed watch volunteers the 30mph speed limit is ignored by the vast majority of through traffic. The latest stats. From the SAM cameras show speeds as high as 90mph and 75 mph is now seen on a regular basis. Lorne Green was made aware of this and other issues when he was visited Shropham whilst he was campaigning last year. We voted for him and spoke to other villagers to encourage them to support him at that time. Our vote appears ro have been wasted. Nothing, absolutely nothing has been done to reduce the danger on our roads. We desperately need traffic calming measure and speed control to make our village a safe place to live in again. The biggest contribution you can make is, rather than pleading for yet more funding from pensioners who are also on 'fixed incomes' is to cut your own costs, as we have to year on year. Show us some support and we will help you, continuing to ignore us.will do you no good.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Breckland
No increase in the policing element		The police wastes so much money on the top brass	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element		Government keeps cutting your money and you expect the public to make up the difference If we do then they will just cut the money further	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		I am tired of being taxed relentlessly. There have already been roses in council tax to fund the police. No more! The government should be funding the money not the public.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Police pensions should only be payed at sixty like all public servants and not allow to go back into work for the police and pic up two pay packets together	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It is up to Local Government to fund the Police, central government grants should be what they were designed to be, a top up for extra activities	Breckland

No increase in the policing element of		I am not happy to pay more. Looking at your accounts there is a huge amount of money being spent on capital renovations to police stations. The usual argument of "making them fit for the future" is usually used. This is wasteful and not justifiable. Please reconsider	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
No increase in the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of		No	Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		As a public sector worker my pay has been capped and is not likely to rise above inflation this year. I cannot afford to contribute more	Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		This is too much as a tax payer I cannot afford to keep paying more for services that should be funded by the government. My bills keep increasing and wages stay the same. It's not fair to expect us to cover your shortfall.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It is stupid to cut the police. Has crime reduced, No! It is not a lot extra to pay.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of		sorry I will no longer support a person who I call into question their integrity of protecting community policing when the first thing they do is get rid of the community officers and say they are keeping neighborhood policing what is that a police officer driving by because that is what it will be lost touch and lost the plot sorry I do not support your request	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		I would never agree to any increase for the police element of the council tax budget with this PCC appointed as I have no faith in Lorne GREEN whatsoever. The reason being is that this was the PCC who previously lobbied for a 2% increase which he stated was required to protect frontline policing which I fully accepted and supported but within a matter of a few months, he decided to axe all PCSO's, which arguably are the only frontline police in which the public see nowadays! Why would I agree to any request from the PCC when he will more than likely go back on his word and you never know, may even go back on his word within a matter of weeks this time rather than months!	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk

No increase in the policing element			Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
No increase in the policing element		This is one of those horrible choices where I wish to see our police get the funding they need to do their job and keep our communities safe, but as a young working person with a young family, budgets are already spread very thin and this is another hit on 'normal people' we can't afford to take. Council tax is already grossly unfair and rather pointless (what other nation charges it's people based on a 1997 property value!?!? - I also pay a similar rate to some rather well off millionaires in Chelsea and Kensington, and I don't even own my home...) Replacing and updating council tax aside, it's my opinion that Police and Crime Commissioners should A) Feedback to the govt that their constituents are already suffering under burdensome recessive taxes (namely council tax - no problems with the others!) and stagnant wages, and; B) lobby the govt to centrally, properly, fund our superb police forces! Pushing their cuts onto police and then forcing the police to then in turn push them onto a growing number of young workers who already feel their taxes too high and look with wishful looks at their more well off previous generations doesn't help! I'm sure the police loathe having to ask for more tax money from their local populace as much as anyone does, please know you all do a fantastic job! But please, lobby the govt as one body, that higher council tax is not the way funding cuts are to be dealt with - there's only so much squeezing people can take. With kind regards.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would
Increase the policing element of
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Bin the PCC, employ half a dozen more PCSOs and let Chief Constable take operational decisions.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		We pay far too much council tax now so council workers can get pensions that the private sector doesn't get.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		Get rid of some of the top tier management and have more constables on duty.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		The government should fund our police (plain and simple)	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Worthy cause more Police to protect us all in this world	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		I currently pay £203 per month already.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Council tax is already a massive strain on many households outgoing bills, an increase would push it too far.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	The Gov should help more	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per
No increase in the policing element of		We pay enough tax as it is!	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It is a shame the public are having to plug the gap left by the lack of government investment in policing however as the public we must invest in policing if we want to protect front line services and protect the men and women who protect us	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		The police are rarely seen here anyway!	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		I am both personally and professionally affected by the cut of 150 policing Staff. Having to increase my council tax bill will be salt in wounds. I would want increased presence for the extra money I contribute not less. There needs to be a review on the proposals for filling the gap in funds.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland

No increase in the policing element of		We have had consistent rises in the council tax for this. Enough is enough. Central government need to review funding.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		While I appreciate the work officers put in I feel we pay more council tax than other areas compared to the services we get back. NCC needs to improve their use and management of money given and deliver through to the public rather than spending most of it "in the office". In West Norfolk we always seem to be last in line. Is this a geographical issue or one of that we're quietly ignored.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of		Pay enough in tax now let the Government sort it out that's what they are supposed to do with the tax I pay already	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	What i think would help people to support is if for example you could explain in staff numbers what the increase would mean for the the area.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element of			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of		We paid extra last year and I dare say less officers are on streets. Theresa May has a long held dislike of the Police so no benefit will ever befall them while she is in power, apart from more contracts for Serco and I am not paying for them.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Visible policing is essential at all times - this is where any increases should go first. Despite what the current PCC view is, low level crime has a greater effect on the population than is appreciated. Older people especially are used to regular police patrols. These in turn can provide a lot of information which itself helps to reduce all types of crime. As a former chair of the local crime prevention panel I do appreciate the many calls that the police have.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	The continued cuts and now the pending redundancy's for the PCSO's must hit the ability to deal with lower level crime and ASB which affects many daily lives and the visibility of Norfolk Constabulary.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would need feedback and evidence of how any increase in funding is actually spent. Some sensible policing, not senselessly bureaucracy.	South Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	Are you joking Lorne Greene? You and Simon Bailey had more money last year, supposedly you were going to protect neighbourhood policing. You've done the opposite - making 150 PCSOs redundant and closing front counters. 176 lives ruined, loyal hardworking members of staff thrown out so you can appease your political masters. Tell the truth to the people of Norfolk, that they wont see the 81 Officers you say will be recruited in place of the PCSOs, because they will be supervisors and managers in office jobs and ploughed into the ever expanding investigation departments. LOCAL POLICING matters too.. the ordinary people of Norfolks towns and villages want to see policing on their streets, dealing with the anti-social behavior and petty crime that you and Bailey have made clear you no longer care about. You fail the public of Norfolk - have more of my money? Not if I had all the money in the world Mr Greene would I give you any. Oh, that phrase has a familiar ring about it doesnt it? Seem to recall how you used that to insult and demean Norfolk's PCSOs. Seems to me they have more honesty and dignity than you ever will.	Norwich
No increase in the policing eleme		I do not feel the police service offer value for the money as in my opinion it is not spent on things that the public want .	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	Policing is important and central govt. should be reducing its funding.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		Scrap the office of PCC to save money.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	Please can the PCC consider more important areas of policing than rural crime	Norwich
No increase in the policing eleme			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	Stop wasting so much money on searching for Corrie McKeague ITS A DISGRACE TO SPEND SO MUCH ON JUST ONE FAMILY.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	I am a 25 year old renting in Drayton with 2 other gentleman, one being 21 years of age, the other 29. All 3 of us are average people, on an average wage, living an average life. But we would happily pay an extra 50p per week to support front line policing and future developments for the Norfolk Constabulary	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou
No increase in the policing eleme			Breckland
No increase in the policing eleme		Not happy to pay increase given the recent decisions made in regards to PCSO's	Broadland
No increase in the policing eleme		I am not happy to pay for another increase in taxes as I am not happy with the decisions made by senior leadership around PCSOs.	Breckland

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		Unless the law breaker has a number plate, the firm I work for have had £20,000 worth of tools stolen from 7 van break ins and we've never heard a thing back from the police. That's money taken from our profits and not from an insurance company as the cost of tool insurance is too high because the theft rate is so high due to the lack of investigation on the police's behalf. Your Twitter pages don't inspire us either, most of the crimes you post on there are driving related which proves your going for easy targets to get your figures up. So no, i don't feel you need more money from us, you need to change your priorities.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Emergency Services, Schools and the NHS are the cornerstones of Britain. They should never be under funded.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I seem to recall voting for an increase before on promises that this would protect the front-line, but it hasn't. I only vote for the increase if it protects front line policing and is not used to increase the salaries of the PCC and Chief Constable!	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	If all the participants in this survey choose to increase their Police part of their Council tax by 12% and this is agreed by Central Government, would there be any chance of keeping some PCSO's which are the back bone of the SNT's who provide the visibility and engagement for the Constabulary?	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		We pay enough as it is. Find the money elsewhere. They need to stop hammering working class with more costs!	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I would happily pay an extra 25p a week on my council tax as long as the money is NOT used to fund PCSO's The removal of most of the PCSO's roles is the most sensible idea the Constabulary have had for years. I refuse to pay any money to keep these glorified litter pickers employed.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element		We pay enough council tax as it is poorer people can't afford it put more tax on the rich oh sorry this is a Tory council who like to tax the poor and give all to the rich	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would pay the maximum but we must be assured that all the money is going on policing and not admin, and that the drive for efficiency will continue	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	As an 80yr old widow, I wouldn't find it easy to pay more but value our Police Services highly.	North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		I believe that taxpayers should not have to pay more for a service which should be provided.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	An extra £2 or so out of my pocket each month to know the that the community I live it well protected and enables existing police officers and staff to keep their jobs to provide for their families is £2 well spent. I hope other people look at it this way too!	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		Breckland
No increase in the policing eleme		Errrrrrrr NO	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		Servery cut senior salaries and reduce number of senior expensive and probably unnecessary managers. Let's see more criminals esp drug pushers put away for good and seize their assets to support the police budget and more control of anti social parking out sides schools also deal with nuisance problems when klwnbdc is closed ie evenings and weekends	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		I cannot afford it, how about not spending 3.1 m on your offices and using the money given to you wisely	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		My husband is working overtime every week just to keep a roof over our head now. This rise could mean the difference in us being able to afford other essentials.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou	To protect PCSOs and the vital work they do for the community and victims of crime.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing eleme		Council tax already pays for this service	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Breckland
No increase in the policing eleme		Council tax is already expensive enough as it is.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing eleme			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		Less paperwork more visible policing	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	I have no objection to paying extra for policing but it would have to deliver for my local community, not just the larger towns.	South Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	THE police do an amazing job in helping to make people in Norfolk feel safe and I would be very happy to pay an extra 50p a week to continue to support them	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element		I do not see the point of you asking for the public to pay extra when you will be making the cuts any way. If you told me that the increase would be to have more police on the streets I would support the request whole heartedly. When you can advise me that all administrative staff have been reduced in line with the police on the streets I will happily back an increase, but I am more concerned the actual waste of money in administration areas. How much has/ will this consultation cost? I work in the NHS and I am very much aware of the wastage through administration on that side of public spending I am assuming rightly or wrongly it would be very much the same under the Policing admin as well. Happy to be advised differently.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		It would be a waste of money How much money was spent on all the new speed cameras in Norwich . How pathetic was the response to events in Cromer recently ?	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		The tax was increased last year for the police and all your doing is cutting officers. Why should we pay more again this year and get less.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		How much does your office cost to run? And how many staff do you employ?	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would
No increase in the policing element		Get rid of the police crime commissioner, merge Norfolk & suffolk and get rid of half of the chiefs and superintendents - use that saving towards funding local policing	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Ensure that out lying villages receive the services that they require. We see very little of the police in our village which makes us feel we are only there to swell the police confers	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		how about you goo to the government. It's them that have put you in this financial situation not the public. under perform and the government will have to have a rethink. #BringBackLabour	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		you wont get a dollar outta me	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Would be more beneficial to cut foreign aid and use savings from that to fund policing.	Broadland

No increase in the policing element		No, enough is enough. Year on year we have an annual increase and appear to be getting less and less for it. My household budget cannot take anymore increases. How about this Tory government start to actually contribute sufficient fundings to our police forces?!? There is an idea...	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Is he willing g to take a pay cut, as we already struggle to pay tax	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
No increase in the policing element		In the PCC's own words 'not if I had all the money in the world'	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	No. Other than I do not believe Norfolk police should struggle for funding. A big county needs adequate policing	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Work towards merging the control rooms in Norfolk and Suffolk this would save money and increase visible policing.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	I would prefer more police to the ridiculous lights and fireworks.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Give the police what they need and stop being so stupid with the risk the gap will leave	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Where and on what is the current budget spent?	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		Perhaps if PCC took a pay cut this may help as he does very little for his wage apart from making inappropriate comments about his workforce and lies to the public to meet his requirements	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	My son was targeted at school in an incident involving a knife, so I have seen first hand how hard the police work with groups of young people in the community. I think it is important to have the manpower to continue this to help young people make the right choices before they become involved in worse crime.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich

No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		If policing needs more funding it should lobby central government for a larger contribution. My household's contribution to local and central government funding is already high enough	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		There was a 2.1 % increase this year on the council tax for the Police and Crimes Commissioner. He took that and has the cheek to ask the tax payer for more money !! You are just another government parasite.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would pay the extra because I want & I want my family to feel safe in our town again-which I'm sorry to say, I don't at the moment	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
No increase in the policing element		I pay enough council tax a year any more and it would cripple us as a family. Maybe you should charge clubs and pubs more as you can not get a police officer on a weekend as they are around the club's.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	We never see police officers in the town centre, despite a level of vandalism and disorder.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element		too much money is wasted on projects that are not needed. ndr and cycle lanes are just 2 examples there are many many areas where funding could be redirected to a more appropriate use but sadly politicians and councils don't see that	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		This would be so unfair to hard workers that have paid so much tax over the years. Make people claiming endless amounts of Jobseeker's Allowance pay extra to cover the cost!	Norwich
Increase the policing element of
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
No increase in the policing element		If you want an increase then offer something for it. Asking me to pay you extra money when I have no increase myself doesn't seem fair. Your offer to, not reduce services on condition that I pay more money is not good enough. Stop the cuts or cut the service. I never see a police officer any more. I used to see them. But, the cuts have come home. I don't see them so, how can I miss them? If I pay you more money that will not change. So go ahead with your cuts. Live with less. We have to.	North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	Unless our front line policing is maintained or increased we are laying ourselves open to more house robberies and muggings etc. and driving offences as they will know there are not enough police officers to control them.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		I am 100% sure that there are still substantial savings the Chief Constable could make without in anyway affecting the service he provides to the people of Norfolk. I strongly suggest he looks at the way his support services are run as I am sure he has no idea of the way money is wasted in some of these areas.	Breckland
No increase in the policing eleme		Prior to your decision to remove PCSOs from your force and cripple the effectiveness of frontline policing I would have willingly increased my contribution for police funding in Norfolk but not at this point because the quality of policing apparent to the majority of Norfolk residents is about to reduce, however much money we give you. There seems to have been very little public reaction to the suggestion that the expectations of the public will have to drop in light of the proposed changes. This means that ASB and street drinking will be challenged less often, low level crime will not be investigated and ultimately, our standard of living will diminish. I was astounded to hear that you would not employ PCSOs if you had all the money in the world and have to conclude that you are prejudiced against them in spite of them playing a vital role in frontline and community policing. The anticipation from your chief constable that other forces would follow suit does not appear to have happened and it would seem that many have recently increased their recruitment opportunities. Interesting to see that the PCSO job specification advertised at Thames Valley Police seems to accurately reflect that which a Norfolk PCSO would undertake yet Mr. Bailey thinks they spend their time at coffee mornings and that the lack of power of arrest is an obstacle to their effectiveness. I was also intrigued to see that a number of forces, Staffordshire included, have opted to appoint PCSOs to help combat online crime whereas Norfolk seems to think that it is better to allocate commissioned officers to this role. A move from Norfolk which almost seems at odds with the concept of keeping officers, and their important power of arrest, on the streets. I	King's Lynn and West Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I work in King's Lynn and Downham Market town centres as a Civil Enforcement Officer, it is not a common sight to see a police officer on a foot patrol. I appreciate that they are busy and that they do a good job in our area, but with a few more officers around, their profile and safety of the public would be increased. When armed officers appeared on the streets it was like they were celebrities, everyone felt secure at a time of unease, a beat officer in town, even for a few hours a day, would increase this feeling and perhaps stop people from thinking that it takes 20 minutes for them to respond to a call.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		As a part time student myself and my partner a self employed courier (jobs given to him via a 3rd party) our income is low and already pay £92 a month which is crippling as much as I wish we could afford to more for policing we literally cannot afford it.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Please don't push for an increase in tax payments, nor push the % cap up. I, and thousands of others, are struggling to pay council tax as it is! Even local MPs have noted the council taxpayer's disinterest and disheartening in the tax situation: "We have taken taxpayers' money and distributed it with no explanation of what that means to each individual taxpayer," Mr Gummer told the House. "As a result, we have forced people to question not how their tax is actually spent but how they believe it has been spent." His statement shows that our earner on £25,500 pays £59 towards overseas aid and £28 to the European Union. "How many times have each of us been told on the doorstep that all our money goes to Europe, or Africa, or Trident?" ...You all do an amazing job already - please don't feel like you need to provide us more. Please listen to us. Paying taxes in England are ridiculous enough as it is. Please don't take away more of my hard earned money - it's no wonder people are giving up their jobs to move onto benefits. I'm tired of our country rewarding laziness over hard work. Increases in taxes will only affect one pool of people; I would be intrigued to see the correlation between the different branches of taxpayers' contributions versus whom actually uses the police, on average. I can guarantee the police frequent the lowest taxpaying pools of my constituency the most. Thanks for asking for our opinions.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
No increase in the policing element

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Policing is very important and keeps those who want to abide by the law safe and so spending more on it should not be a hard question.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Not if I had all the money in the world	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		Not if I had all the money in the world	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I would be more than happy to pay more, providing the money was put to good use. More police presence out and about rather than just seemingly targeting road users.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of		I can barely afford my bills as it is.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Breckland
No increase in the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	We need more officers on the streets	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	With the crime wave we apparently don't have yet can take 4 months to see a police officer regarding 2 crimes something is seriously wrong. We do not have enough officers	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of		No	Breckland
No increase in the policing element of		Not if I had all the money in the world. You had a pay increase last year and pcso's got scrapped. I am not paying for pencil pushers instead of frontline officers. Plus there will still probably be further cuts next year.....no thank you!	Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			North Norfolk

No increase in the policing element		There are plenty of other cuts that you could make to better use the money you have. I used to work for norfolk police and the pure waste of money on things was shocking. You also don't provide a good enough service to justify asking for more money. I recently reported an incident where a car drove onto the path and nearly hit my 4 year old daughter. Fortunately I managed to get her out of the way quickly. I got the registration number of the car that did it as he drove off not bothered at what he had done. I reported it to you and the response was that you won't do anything about it as she didn't get hurt and I didn't have dashcam footage (impossible as we were walking along the path). Apalling response in my opinion that a child needs to be hurt before you will take any action against dangerous drivers. There were plenty of witnesses around that saw it happen but you weren't interested in that.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		NO NO NO! Tell the government to stop wasting money on pointless projects and giving billions to the EU. Charity starts at home, i struggle as it is!	Breckland
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element		you are Having a laugh Lorne	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It's viral that we ensure police are well-funded, and able to protect us. Whatever we spend in an increase in council tax, means we're less likely to lose money further down the line in crime & that seems like a very reasonable suggestion. The government is failing its people, its up to the people to protect themselves.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It concerns me that we're being asked about council tax rises when the amount we currently pay has still resulted in all PCSOs losing their jobs. Are the suggested rises enough to put them back into service in our community or just to deal with the endless paperwork and bureaucracy?	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		council tax is already too high	South Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	What is your plan for degrees for police officers an estimated cost per police officer is approximately £6k however with a proposed mandatory degree in policing and estimated cost has been projected at £27k. at this current moment in time the government have not proposed that any funding is given for this at this moment it's up to the police forces themselves to foot the cost. With this in mind the current savings and not even a drop in the ocean compare to what will have to be saved if degree in policing for police officers goes ahead. What is your plan for this?	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element		I possibly couldn't afford more council tax I would love to give more money to the police but id get into more trouble because I wouldn't be able to pay my full bill	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of
No increase in the policing element		We have had increases in the council tax before and yet the Police station is Swaffham is to close I think. Never see a policeman unless they are speeding along the A47. Do we really need the expense of Commissioners, I don't think so.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		No way... cutting PCSO's and now asking for an increase what a joke.... the area I live in only ever see's a PCSO so why would I want to fund the wallets of officers that I don't see.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	It is crazy that you have to undertake this type of survey. Surely the government values the work of our Police forces and recognises the real need to support them rather than keep cutting their funding.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I would pay more but would want to see local police more as a result. Living in a rural area we tend to get forgotten but crime is on increase.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Need to help the Police out, this is our most vital public service	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	It is unrealistic in a time of pegged wages and benefits to levy increases above cost of living increase.	Great Yarmouth

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Strong policing is vital to any community, but especially to a county with huge rural areas. I understand the current need for on-going economies in the overall UK and regional budgets, but policing is absolutely NOT an area that should be put at risk by budget cuts.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would pay 50p per week more but would expect to see a noticeable increase in police officers on the street. I was very unhappy about the "Cromer lockdown". "More visible cops-less crime" including travellers who seem to may people be above the law.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Value Special Constables and the role they do.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	Not really	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	This shouldnt even be an issue for debate, funding our police force is vital	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Breaking the 2% would have a potentially damaging knock effect and then set a precedence of a continually high percentage increase to council tax year on year. Within a time when people are struggling financially, little or no pay rises this would be a very bad idea.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It is essential that the Police Service is fully funded	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Council needs to improve other services first, as does NHS. Police are too often having to do the work that social workers and paramedics do, because these staff are not available, or not doing a good enough job.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	More financial information would have been helpful in your consultation pack	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		You had a raise last year and government took more money out. PCSO's made redundant. Utter disgrace.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	You must keep PCSO's, they are invaluable.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	It would need to be separately broken out on my bill. I think NHS funding should be seerately broken out on our taxes then it could be increased on only used for the NHS, I like to see where my money is going and not have local and central government cook the books.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Make cuts to the lavish Police pension arrangements.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Rural crime is on the up. Police need to be seen more in the towns.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		Not if I had all the money in the world.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	If it means paying slightly more also we can have more resources, then it should go ahead.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Wages must be too high	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	I have to manage so should you. or quit and save us the money	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Policing cannot be done effectively "on the cheap". Paying more for the service is the only way forward in my opinion. It will cost us all less in the long run, with more police officers, more crime detection/arrests and a more visible police prescence. All of these things drive down crime and create a better and safer society.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	It might be ok for you to pay 12 per cent extra for police because you have plenty of money but a lot of us don't we have to try and make ends meet its a struggle for most of us,it might be better for the police to spend there time doing proper police work and not keep wasting time and money running around after things like silly neighbor disputes and suchlike.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of

No increase in the policing element		We can not afford to live comfortably on the low income we get let alone in freezing council tax which some of us are struggling to pay find your money some where else not on the poor people in the UK	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need more police	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	Joint facilities including administration with other services and adjoining counties We are to small a population and large area to keep the senior officer empire model	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I do not have a police station for many miles because local ones within a 12 mile radius closed. Why should we pay more money for less service. We never see Police officers locally. When Police are needed we have to wait, and wait and wait some more. Criminals would be long gone before Police arrive.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I would only pay extra with a government promise (for what they are worth). That their would be no further decreases in the government funding.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I am happy to pay more council tax. I don't earn a huge wage, but value where my money goes too. To give Norfolk Police more money would provide more peace of mind for residents and this is invaluable.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Amalgamate Norfolk and Suffolk and save millions on executive pay /pensions / one PCC costs /one HR dept/ finance dept etc etc	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Last year, I was told over tax went up to covet 60 more job, but I have just heard you are letting go another 60 pso, so where has my money gone	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Absolutely No! Not if i had all the money in the world!! Complete and utter cheek if it!!!	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		Save all the money you need by stopping persecuting motorists for minor offences.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	This website makes you either 0% Or 2% before you can move forward to select the higher %s ?? Some people may give up , or leave it at the) or 2 % !!	Norwich
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth

No increase in the policing element		Wymondham is a lawless town as we see NO POLICE AT ALL unless there is a cycle race on when they appear out of every pore. Town Green is currently closed - but not to motorists who simply drive along the footpath, speeding is endemic as is parking on the FOOTPATHS indeed there is a huge amount of other motor vehicle crime. Policing this would generate FINES which would mean MONEY to the police force.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		As a local government council worker I have no change of any cost of living let alone a payrise of any sort so I have to manage my own money and cover raises in bills and rent without having to pay more council tax	Norwich
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	be useful as i was told that the reason police couldnt do their job was because they had no money really suffered because they couldnt i am hoping they are to do so soon im for them having raise in money tough job people prob dont know what they have to deal with on a daily bases would prob reduce the risks from giants such as PLC companies thinking they are able to take over norfolk	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		errrr na thanks mate	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		There are much greater priorities for funding increase than policing	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		If the government didn't pay themselves such vast wage increases there would be more money for the Police.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Funding for local / community policing is vital - we never know when we'll personally need access to the police, therefore an increase in funding is necessary.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		Council tax is already unfair on single people who pay more than their fair share, and each percentage rise adds to that unfairness. Norfolk has a high proportion of single person households. Policing should be funded through personal taxation, not property tax. We have had years of pay freezes and it is wrong to keep asking for more and more money from our static or falling incomes. Rather than asking the government to scrap the 2% cap so you can raise our council tax even further without consultation, you should be defending us and asking the government to reform the way policing is funded.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Reducing police presence is completely detrimental to society. The PCSO's have done incredibly good work. Policing these days is ever more difficult and the public's respect and help will not be gained by removing officers from the streets.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Yay to replacing PCSOs with ordinary officers	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	We never see any Police in rural areas although the Police Station at Diss is full of cars. No doubt there are still areas of non-frontline staff that can be culled without touching any frontline services. Stating that front line services would have to be reduced is a threat designed to make people cough up. The NHS is top heavy with non-operational staff and no doubt the Police service is also. The Police Commissioner and his support staff could be culled immediately, that would save a few £1k's	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I do not believe the present PCC makes best use of public funds	Norwich
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I personally have concerns with Norfolk policing, in the way they actually spend tax payers money, and the time spent and wasted on certain individual cases, that I'm personally aware of.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Policing in our area is abhorrent!! we get little or no help when needed and the Police spend thousands on cases that fail to reach an acceptable standard to enter into court rooms YET still persist to cost their budget (and taxpayers) money NONE of us can afford!! so little policing for far too much money!! All councils and Police (no matter what rank) should ALL be paid minimum wage If you can't manage the budget correctly then something is wrong!! We the taxpayers can't just say "my budget won't go far enough, give me more!" Maybe if Police officers PAID for their own food that would not only save thousand for the budget but maybe they would be healthier as fast food should NOT be at tax payers expense	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I am a retired Police Officer of the Norfolk Constabulary, and I still live in the county. I retired from the police service in December 2000, but returned to the Constabulary as a civilian support staff worker till finally retiring in 2016. Therefore I served our community for some 48 years. During my time as a police officer I saw police wages rise and as well as an increase in investment in technology, transport and equipment. After my retirement I saw police wages decrease in real terms and a huge decrease in internal investment. I witnessed police officers with whom I worked after retirement become increasingly overwhelmed with added layers of bureaucracy and unnecessary paperwork. This resulted in police officers being removed from "proper policing" for greater periods of time. This added layer of bureaucracy and unnecessary paperwork was imposed by various governments who did not trust the Norfolk Constabulary to get on with the business of Policing our community. The Home Office and it's ministers were determined to 'fix' something that was not 'broken' within the Norfolk Constabulary. I have to admit that there were some Constabularies that were underperforming and needed some form of Government intervention, but it would appear that because of a few 'ill and failing' constabularies, every constabulary had to 'take the medicine'. This intervention by government has caused a slow but sure decline in morale of the Norfolk Constabulary. I joined the police service in 1968, when police wages were at an all time low, corruption (in some areas) and apathy were rife, experienced police officers were leaving the Service in droves to take jobs that allowed them a better standard of living. In my opinion we are	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	As a pensioner on a tight personal budget I would be prepared to pay .25p per week extra to maintain and perhaps increase policing in the next financial year	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		"Not if I had all the money in the world" sorry!	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	There needs to be better use of volunteers. My limited experience of Norfolk Constabulary suggests they may be focussing on relatively unimportant matters. Whilst I'm prepared to pay more money I'd like to know what the outcomes are beyond, for example, an increase in police officer numbers.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Why not get rid of the PCC and save many thousands of pounds a year to be put to better use.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Lorne Greene must be living in cloud cuckoo land if he thinks people will agree to a 12 per cent increase. Who gets those kind of increases?	Broadland

No increase in the policing element of		Keeps going up!	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need to keep our County safe and a great place to live in, policing is a key element this.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		We see nothing of policing around here.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	I fully support the excellent work done by our police force in partnership with the other agencies. However, I do not necessarily agree with the ethos that we need police to be more visible in neighbourhoods...this is the regular cry from 'older people', however, I feel that the majority actually feel safer when they do not see a police officer in their neighbourhood. If I see one then I know that a crime has been committed and I feel unsafe. Perhaps a wider view of this needs to be taken so all elements of the community are reassured?	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
No increase in the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of		To save money the pension contributions could be reduced. The public sector is not in line with private companies and pays too higher percentage into the pension schemes.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		Council tax is already a significant outgoing for many households. For many the second largest after rent/mortgage. Wages have not risen in recent years and people have had to make tough decisions on their own lives. To raise this would be unfair. Undoubtedly there will be sensible cut backs that can be made to services. For example, sending 4-6 cars to an RTC is not necessary. Small simple steps can make a big impact without compromising the overall service.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I am a PCSO and I have still voted for an increase. Not because I hope it will save my job, but because whether you had PCSO's or not, you would still need the extra money to keep the constabulary afloat. I understand the reasons for the removal of the role and more importantly I understand it isn't personal. The constabulary is still going to need the money and I am still a resident of Norfolk and I still want to feel safe in my community.	Great Yarmouth

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I feel very strongly that we need more personal policing. Whilst I understand the constraints that are made by the lack of money. The standard of policing is well short of what I would like. Small crimes - petty crimes, are being 'ignored' and this leads - in my opinion to a slippery slope. We need Bobby on the Beat, someone who is easily accessible.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	The police is a valuable service to King's Lynn that cannot afford to be lost, our local PCSOs protect the community and mean that police officers are able to tackle heavier crimes in the area, the loss of these services would increase petty crimes	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Spend considerably less money on 'fancy' vehicles and put officers back 'on the beat'.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		I suggest your efforts should be directed into lobbying better and harder for more government finance, greatly reducing expensive higher senior ranks and correcting the big mistake of disbanding PCSOs by restoring this essential level of local policing. Discontinuing the office of PCC would also help with more front line policing.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		I would not pay more if I had all the money in the world! I can't afford to.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		After you have left Norfolk County BLIND! Our eyes and ears are PCSOs..... Absolutely NO, I do not want to pay more money for less visual, community policing! And NO, the officers that you are recruiting will NOT be our Eyes and ears in Norfolk, as they will not want to do the work of dedicated police community support officers!	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		As a pensioner I would find it difficult to agree to pay extra on my council tax and would petition for other means to be found to pay for policing in my area. I already pay £244/month council tax out of my fixed income pension.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
No increase in the policing element			Norwich

Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	As one of thousands of public sector workers in Norfolk my pay, if it's risen at all in the past few years, has increased by no more than 1% and it's already very hard indeed to make ends meet. I have to live within my means and so must the Police, and the County Council too for that matter whose suggested near 5% rise is very worrying. If cuts have to be made so be it but it's simply not fair to heap even more pressure on hard-pressed householders. Thank goodness I no longer have a mortgage or the keys would have been handed back by now, but that most definitely doesn't mean I have money to spare. Things are very difficult indeed and I know there's many people like me, including people who can't pay their Council Tax now, never mind any increase.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Why should the tax payer pick up the governments slack?!	Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		Reductions in frontline policing will happen no matter how much council tax rises. The PCC and the CC's financial figures can not be trusted.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Not if I had all the money in the world	Breckland
No increase in the policing element of		Not for all the money in the world	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	I believe that any rise should be limited to 2% as many people have had their wages held at current rates or deceived very small rises. There are a lot of people in the county struggling to get by on very tight budgets	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		get rid of the pcc	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		I've seen constabulary's squander money over the years and I fear this will be more of the same, so it's a no from me.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of		we have already had an increase in our council tax BUT you have reduced the numbers of front line police officers but 20% by sacking PCSO's to replace them with CID officers and another assistant for you ??????	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would
No increase in the policing element of		NOT IF I HAD ALL THEIR MONEY IN THE WORLD THANK YOU	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need the police to fully funded	Norwich

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Finance is tight for people to with no real increase in wages how can we afford to keep paying more, services should be scaled to the funds available.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I've not had a pay rise in 6 years so I don't want to subsidize the government or the police for that matter	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		we have had an increase already but Norfolk police have made 20% of the visible police front line officers redundant to be replaced by a few CID officers. Obviously against government guidelines as other forces recognise the value of the visible police presence of PCSO's. it was clear in the PCC election manifesto that he is against PCSO's but the general public support their role	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Well first of all..how much does mr green earn per annum including pension plus perks ? Could his post be abolished and save money ? Has he reached his targets and if not so should forfeit part of his extravagant earnings ? My pension is approx £500 per month without perks.. Not everybody can afford extra costs.. Suggest that donations would be more appropriate. Need I say more..???????	Breckland
Increase the policing element of
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		We pay enough tax for services that keep getting cut. Government need to invest in public services from other areas of spending. If the govt put money in I would have no issue paying more.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		stop begging, streamline higher ranks and get the police to work. no-one can forget the cromer debacle.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	to much waste	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Whilst I feel it is a necessity to properly fund the police force, I now do not trust Lorne Greene or Simon Bailey to make sensible decisions, the recent PCSO loss is contrary to any common sense, in opposition to the rest of the country and simply a squandering of valuable resource and invested time and money.	Broadland

No increase in the policing element		Everything is increasing faster than my pay. I work five nights a week and struggle to pay my bills. I don't smoke, drink or do drugs. I have no life outside of work as I can't afford to go anywhere or do anything. I can't remember the last time I had a holiday abroad or anywhere else. We would all like more money but until people like me actually earn a proper living wage it would be a particularly callus act to increase our financial burden. I believe our Police force do their job to the best of their ability and if they asked for my help I would give it as long as it is not financial help. I just can't afford any more bills. I have one meal a day. Today I had two slices of bread with a thin slice of cheese. If you take more money off me I won't even have that.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Why don't use the millions of pounds of PROFIT council car parks take each year !!!	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	You cannot continually stick it up by large percentages every year when wages are static or 1-2%. It's not many years since police was roughly the same as district, now you're nearly double.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		It is not fair that tax payers have to pay this shortfall just because the government deems other things to be more important; like their salaries and expense claims.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		In the EDP 29th November, the PCC seems to think a 12% increase would be a good idea. What a contrast to how he persuaded us to vote for him in the run-up to the election last year. "Piling on more taxes when we already pay the fourth highest police taxes in the country will be a last resort once all other options are fully explored". Oh really?	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	The really should be some visible roads policing. If the number of crimes of burglary, sexual, violence etc got remotely close to the millions of traffic offences that go unpunished every day, I'm sure something drastic would have been done by now!	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Why do we pay a police and crimes officer though? Surely this should be a voluntary position??	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	The decision to scrap PCSOs needs to be reversed!	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Let's get on with it.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Recent poor experience from Norfolk following an incident which was not recorded There are no guarantee that extra funding will in fact change anything	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	How do we know that a significant increase in funding which is what I am supporting, will be spent wisely ?	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Only if there was a dramatic raise in the national living wage. It's the absurd cuts to our forces that should be challenged.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Policing needs to reflect community needs in Norfolk not just Norwich. Learning from areas of poor performance like the Cromer incident with alleged travellers	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Why is it that it is only the police that cannot manage their budget?	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	It is crucial that with the rising crime rate, that the Police have all the resources they need.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		If we did not have a post and office for a police commissioner, more money could be spent on our Police Force. We managed very well in the past with out a commissioner.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I'd like to know how much money is wasted and believe further cuts should be placed on policing to improve efficiency in the use of funding you get. Without properly studying I imagine the police are a major burden on tax payers through pension mismanagement, does the police even have a pension investment fund or do you expect the tax payer to front this? Too much waste. Can we vote to reduce council tax amounts going to the police? It isn't like the GY area is a wonderful crime free area so couldn't we fund based on performance?	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would willing pay extra if crimes which are not currently being investigated were to be investigated. There seems to be more emphasis on meeting targets than offering a service & keeping the public safe.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		No increase	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element		I feel i pay enough council tax (band d) and feel Newton Flotman does not warrant more policing	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would want the extra money to go towards visible policing on the streets.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I believe in what I have said previous. Only one addition sense must prevail on spending please	North Norfolk

No increase in the policing element		Pay has decreased over the past 7 years with only a 1% rise per year, National Insurance rises and pension contributions to 14.25% I am doing the job that 2 officers used to do for less pay, let central government pay this time or we could all just go home? Too many rises in cost no rise in pay !	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	The council tax precept is increased every year, yet another back-door tax. I have no wish to prop up a failing system, the government won't provide further funding if people are happy to provide an additional 12%.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Everything has a price. Let's get on with it.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	As long as the additional money goes into community policing preferably by funding proactive additional boots on the ground, not more reactive policing.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
No increase in the policing element		I do not agree with an increase of 2% on my council tax	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		council tax is already too high, it should not go up anymore	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	To use one of your own phrases Mr Greene, "if I had all the money in the world" I wouldnt agree to you having any significant increase out of my hard earned wages.The public of Norfolk were persuaded to give more last year, on the false promise of protecting neighbourhood policing. You have failed to do that, because you have encouraged and supported the dismissal of 150 PCSOs from neighbourhood policing. Not only that, you insulted them in the process, with no regard for their welfare. You have done nothing to fight these plans, in fact its evident you have wanted rid of PCSOs ever since you were elected, I'm sure you must now be very happy. To be replaced by what - Special Constables and volunteers, who you seem to regard as the answer to everything. Cheap policing, poorly trained, cant be relied upon to turn up when they are needed. Why should the public pay more again this year but see far less? Instead of playing the same tune as your Government masters you should be doing what other PCCs are doing; fighting to protect the numbers of Officers and Staff that Norfolk Police already has. That is your duty as PCC, not just being a lap dog to your political party or forcing your own agendas.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I note you have reserves of £25million, should this not be used otherwise it becomes dead money.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element

No increase in the policing element		Living in Kings Lynn, the day to day crime that is evident to all is increasing, looking at the amount of car crashes and driving on mobiles and lack of police visibility this would be a waste the issues isnt money its goals set by this government ..	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		It is too much now	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		who would want to, seriously	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		just no	Norwich
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
No increase in the policing element		no thank you	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need sensible policing after Brexit	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Is the force 100% efficient? What does the staff say about efficiencies??	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I believe a lot of money could be collected from speeding motorists in rural villages, but not if the camera operator is clearly visible, as the motorists simply slow down and then warn others coming the other way.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	We are band F and pensioners. 2% is plenty in our opinion.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	50p per week to save Norfolk policing is nothing! yes I wholeheartedly support this and despair if no one else can spare 50p too	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would
No increase in the policing element		The funding for police should come from central government and not via council tax. The resulting shortfall is caused by the present governments austerity plan, bribing the DUP to support them in parliament and the ever increasing cost of a ruinous Brexit plan.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Why should I pay more for Policing when it should be funded by central government?. I have had years of a real term pay cut and yet the wealthy politicians of which the PCC is one expect me to pay more for policing.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	No way, I have no money as it is!!!	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Broadland

Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Inflation is currently at 3% and is expected to fall over the next year. Therefore any increase above 2% is not justified. Also, it would only be funded by council tax payers.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Need to measure the impact of any increase to specified target spend	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	We need more police	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Dear Mr Green, If you are really concerned about funding, why not start at the top, say your department. My view was and still is, it was not necessary and most certainly could never be cost effect. Adding paper pusher to the force will not reduce crime. Just a logical observation of an old man.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Good decision to eliminate the PCSOs. The" just about managing" are finding it extremely difficult - with food and petrol prices up - so I oppose the proposed increase. It doesn't make political sense either - to pile on the misery on people who have not had pay increases.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	It's too easy to ask for more money - costs must be cut and new income streams created before seeking above inflation increases.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Let central Government cough up, they seem to find billions of Pounds for Northern Ireland and for the EU exit.!	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		ALL the money in the world wont save PCSO's PCC Green so why should the public be asked to fund more money top what will become a failing police force	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Cuts should start from the top with the high earners. senior officers should take pay cuts. Dead wood should be disposed off (officers with long term injury who will never be front line again because they have landed a cushy desk job on a full PC wage). Find cheaper contractors and use less hire vehicles.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		It is unacceptable that yet again the tax paying people are expected to take up the slack to cover cuts made by government under the ruse of "austerity". This country is awash with money, alas it is trickling up, not down.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		You did this last year. Why does Police think they deserve more than Child Services, which is a failed service. The Police in Norfolk however is rated good. I pay £160 a month council tax for a three bedroom property in a rural village. Just an ordinary house nothing flash. I can't afford any more.	South Norfolk

No increase in the policing element of		HAHAHAHAHA - this is clearly a joke. asking for increased council tax. My wages aren't going up so how am I supposed to afford the extra 2%. It may not be a huge amount to you but to me every penny helps	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	You cannot expect to make cuts but ask for more. There is far too much wastage in the constabulary which needs to be looked at before front line.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element of		No way	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of		It shouldn't be down to the public to pay more to fund the police. The government need to realise that they aren't giving the police enough money to spend and increase it. If the public are stupid enough to want to pay more then the government will reduce their police budget further	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		No I DO NOT want to pay more council tax to fund the police.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		I will not be willing an organisation that has recently been treating its staff in such a poor way. Comments from the PCC should require him to stand down not ask for more money	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		do what's best for Norfolk Constabulary Mr Green and step down as PCC	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		jog on Lorne	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		reducing staff and wanting more money. laughable really. the jobs lost will never be replaced and policing in Norfolk will soon go down hill.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of		policing only happens in norwich.k/lynn.gt.yarmouth,let them pay.rural areas lose out why pay more for less.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
No increase in the policing element of		We live in a Band E house - our council tax is quite high enough! This is our family home that we have built up over 0 years, why should we now be penalised? We are on a limited income, have always lived and worked in North Norfolk and we have nowhere near the amount of money as incomers to the area who have earned higher wages.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich

No increase in the policing element		Norfolk PCC, for clarifying the police pensions represent 9.6% of the operational budget in 2017/18. I still have concerns over the Police General Fund as it presents a link to total taxpayer liability. I urge a freeze to the Norfolk police council tax stipend.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	Happy to support the Constabulary and officers on the frontline. Don't mind paying a little extra as long as the money is going to be used in the right way and where it's most needed.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		You have closed the police stations and could not provide cover during the Cromer debacle with the police not now bothering to investigate low level crime. Too many chiefs at the top on very high salaries with too few indians at the bottom. A 1% pay rise for Simon Bailey and the big boys is a far greater increase than a 1% rise for a bobby on the beat on £30K. Get rid of some of the dross at the top that don't appear to do weekends or evening shifts before asking for more money.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		We pay enough already. NO NO NO to any increase.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	All additional investment should be due additional officers at the frontline only, tackling crime in emergency response and CID roles. There should be no pay increases at all for the PCC or any Officer above the rank of Sergeant.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Why do we have a paid crime commissioner and staff. That in its self would be a saving.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	The precept was increased last year on the pretext of protecting neighbourhood policing. You have failed to do this. You have instigated your plan to remove 150 PCSOs from Norfolk, something you have always wanted to do and you have now got your way. You have damaged Norfolk Police and ruined peoples the lives of those Officers, insulting them in the process, yet you want more money out of the people of Norfolk. How about stopping going along with your conservative masters and fighting for the jobs of your staff? Why should we pay for more but accept less.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Social care is far more important than policing. I'd happily pay significantly more (10%+) on my council tax to improve adult and children care in Norfolk.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I want to support the Police as indicated but am concerned at the number of police, who always seem available (6 to 8 cars), for even the most minor accident. The number of police who are always available for high speed TV chases also causes me concern. The money spent on these chases usually far exceeds the seriousness of the crime and the minor penalties handed down produce bad images for the police and seem very wasteful.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Increased demand, increased complexity, increased risk all equals no choice - the precept has to go up to keep the County safe.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Think it's a cheek to ask for any more than 2%. We all have to manage our income. 12% ridiculous suggestion. Some of us haven't had any increase for years and do without.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		There should be no increase in the Policing element of council tax. This should be funded by the 11% wage increase that the MPs in Westminster shamefully accepted when public sector pay was capped and many people were losing their jobs. They should be made to have the 11% increase removed and this used to help fund shortfalls in the economy before they ask the public to put their hands in their not so filled pockets again! We also provide foreign aid to countries who are prepared to put a space program ahead of the people of their nation. The government should first have a hard look at exactly what they spend money on - we can all see they can make massive savings before they dare to ask for tax increases again.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I pay enough as it is	Broadland
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	There has been a noticeable increase in crime. I used to live in a very safe area. Not any more	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would
No increase in the policing element		I will not support any increase as long as Norfolk's policing model is dictated by the personal wants of the inexperienced and incompetent current PCC	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Policing should be properly funded by central government. Cuts are costing thousands of lives.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		Central government should get their act together, stop underfunding essential services and forcing local councils to implement austerity policies that hit the poor hardest.	Broadland

No increase in the policing element		Wages are stagnant or falling. The police need to become more efficient	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Sort out the police pensions to retire at 48 doesn't make sense why should it come out of police funds instead of a pension fund	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	no	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It is of the utmost importance that the police service is fully funded. Fighting crime is basic to a civilized society.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	as long as this money was directly used on front line policing	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	It is so important to get the country's finances back in balance that this must still be the priority.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	We do not want to see a further reduction in frontline policing	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It's getting worrying and scary that crime is coming to small villages in the area and that the police aren't able to do very much about it. Please get police back out there amongst the public to reassure us.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Certainly willing to pay a little more but would expect to see some of the benefits of this in our region i.e. not simply solving issues in (perhaps) Norwich and Great Yarmouth but some more visible policing everywhere and on the roads, not simply relying on ANPR.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would be happy to contribute a higher amount, but personally would like to see it focused on visibility policing patrolling feet on the ground at such time as school living time public events public reassurance (friend not foe) and building local knowledge, my further concern would be that if you say's more locally central government would cutback more Leving a fat comply?	South Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	The police obtained an increase in the precept of 2% last year, but I would agree a further 2% even though we do not see police officers in Broadland very much, where crime is reportedly one of the lowest in the country, and proactivity is minimal. With so many restricted officers across the force (approx. 135 individual officers) is the organisation retained police officers potentially for a career in back office functions that police staff do at less cost? This number is growing, the organisation should look at either performance managing these officers out, or consideration being given to changing contracts 2 years restricted (change of police regulations / legislation), or even reviewing the evidence of such restrictions and its use by the force medical officer in classing so many as restricted and not able to do traditional police work! These officers are doing the same work as a member of police staff yet on a greater salary than equivalent police staff. Recently Norfolk asked all retiring officers if they were prepared to stay longer as officers, but uptake was minimal if not zero. So ask the same officers if they will stay as police staff working in back office / support roles, after all they retire at relatively young age! These retiring officers could be used for all back office roles as they have a wealth of operational policing knowledge (as trained by the organisation at great expense) releasing all fully fit officers into frontline / investigative roles, these returning but retired officers would be on a lower salary than the officer for doing the same job with the same knowledge. A experienced sergeant receives £41k, an experienced retiring officer would return on Band F with a salary of 35k. An experienced Inspector receives £51k the equivalent	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		You got an increase last year promising levels would remain the same. Then the pcco bombshell was dropped. Loren green tweeted his disgusting quote "if he had all the money in the world he would not retain them. What a nasty little man. Get rid of this waste of public funds and his office	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	We need more police on the streets of king's Lynn. Very low presence of police. Lots of anti social behaviour. Leading to social breakdown.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	Do the Government think that the Police Budget is insufficiently important to warrant a justifiable increase in the budget? Whilst I would like to give more as a pensioner I do not get increases to the same % level you are asking for!	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou	Hearsay suggests that recent increases have almost entirely been absorbed by police pension payments. Not sure if this is so, the juxtaposition of early retirement should be considered. Also the use of drones should dramatically slash costs by eliminating the Norfolk police helicopter	North Norfolk

No increase in the policing element		the standard of policing is so woeful in norfolk more money would be wasted we are increasingly left to police ourselves . i moved to norfolk 30 years ago and i remain as unimpressed as i was in 1987.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need more Police on the ground to tackle the spiralling incidents of anti social behaviour & lawlessness on our streets	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	This is no different than anything else in life. If you want it you have to pay for it and I want it!	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I would have no objection to a 5%increase in council tax	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		This is unfair on council tax payers, please no more year on year increases, we elected you as a Conservative PCC to address this high taxation. Enough is enough. No More Increases!	Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		Better efficiency should be looked at before increasing council tax.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		The force needs to operate more efficiently. I know of a Police Officer who spends the majority of his time on training courses, paternity leave or off sick. His contribution seems to be "nil"	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
No increase in the policing element		You report a decrease in crime, an increase in detected crime so why should you require more from the Norfolk rate payer. The government, law makers have imported a huge element of undesirables known criminals and then expect the people to pay to try and control them, this is a central government problem, who seem to have billions to spend on unnecessary foreign aid, and still expect the people to foot the bill for stupid policy's, quoting austerity measures. Sorry you should be lobbying central government not local government for funds for policing its own folly, or indeed take it from any payment that the EU might think is coming.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Why don't you take a pay cut and let some off your staff go to cover the costs.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Norfolk ranked 70 of 78 counties. Serious and fatal crashes in the county increased by 13% between 2010-12 and 2013-15, with road safety performance falling behind Britain as a whole. Unless improved, Norfolk will fail to meet international targets to halve road deaths within a decade. No surprise while victims killed and injured by law breaking motorists receive NO justice.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need to make sure that the police have the money to do their job everywhere.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	no	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		We are being taxed enough. Central government should allocate the necessary funding.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Money is never invested in front line Policing. Too many officers working office hours in protected roles	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	We see the Police as an essential part of keeping Norfolk a safe and comfortable place to live.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Messages from PCC and CC do not specify which areas additional council tax will be funding	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Remove the waste and change the culture to support efficient working practices before you start asking for more money.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Needs central government funding. We can not go down the road of expecting council tax to make up the shortfall from the government	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Happy to pay an extra 50pence per week for frontline and investigations. The challenge is what will broadland district council and the county council want as well. If the sum of the whole starts to see much larger bills as a result of all three local tax rises then it becomes problematic.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Do not waste money	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Rather than take the easy option of demanding even more from hard pressed tax payers the police should look hard at improving their efficiency - eg a small example I have noticed on several occasions now 2 or even three police cars attending minor road issues such as punctures - is this really good use of police time? My experience with similar large organisations leads me to suspect that this sort of thing is an indicator of even more serious wastage.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Let's pay for a properly funded policing model.	South Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	There are not enough uniformed officers in Norfolk that are available to respond to emergency calls as it is. This means there is very little proactive policing by those in uniform. I know and fully appreciate the role Special Constables play in community and proactive policing but no modern police service should have to rely on unpaid volunteers. The force also has to address the imbalance between uniformed proactive policing and the high number of officers working on on line cyber crime and sexual exploitation. So if policing numbers increase these should go into front line policing.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element		We need a two tier police force, with C/C staying in post for 10 years. Longer sentences for repeat offenders. Control traveller problems !!	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I voted to increase Council Tax to keep PCSO's. You have allowed the chief constable to now cut these 150 jobs. I do not agree to any further increases unless these essential officers are re-instated.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	This is ok for those with a decent income however for many who have seen their earning tumble in real terms(14% since 2008) it is too far.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	A good move changing from PCSO's to PC's. Hard for the many very good people involved but a better operational choice	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Money well spent, I think!	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Whilst I do not like increases in tax I believe active and effective policing is very important. I would support an increase in the policing element of Council Tax.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	every one must learn to pay for what we need.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	I would like to see the PCC reduce his personal office administration staff.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Whilst I appreciated the budget pressures that the constabulary face, putting up the police element of the Council Tax is all very well so long as we see a noticeable difference for the extra being paid. I hear my local police station is closing (Sprowston) and I believe taking this presence away is extremely significant in the impact and perceptions residents and criminals will have about how the police are protecting our neighbourhood. The Council is also likely to be increasing it's portion of the CT as well as the Parish Council so the CT payer ends up paying a lot more for not a lot of difference. We have to see some results and improvements if we are being asked to pay more.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Policing and its aim on preventative measures to tackle increasing crime levels and crimes which are becoming more specialised and intricate are under threat by continued reductions in funding and budgets. This has led to norfolk police working on a reactive approach to dealing with crime and even this approach is under threat and soon will be unable to provide the service the community and safety of those most vulnerable need to survive. With continued cuts and demand on resources this will inevitably lead to even the most committed police staff and police officers having lower morale.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Norwich

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would also like to see some of the money raised used to fund support services for vulnerable people in Norfolk; including homeless people, offenders and people needing preventative support to stop them falling into crisis.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	We the people are not an endless pot of money. Perhaps Police areas where you can make money. Those speeding and driving without insurance etc. Set up ANPR on roads daily catching criminals and use that money.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would
No increase in the policing element		I'm 55 and have had several interactions with the police in my lifetime! The police have been completely useless in ALL cases and in 3 positively unbelievably incompetent! A complete waste of money in every way! Completely incompetent except maybe for directing traffic!	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	The policing element in Council Tax has increased every year by 2%, even as budgets elsewhere were held steady, or frozen. This indicates the management of resources may be a problem. Certain areas, like sex abuse, appear to be given priority simply because they are a pet project of the Chief Constable, not really because the "face of crime is changing". Neighbourhood policing has taken a hit with the scrapping of PCSOs, and events in Cromer over the summer showed that this is an area where improvements need to be made. No technohubs can predict the vagaries of travellers out on the razzle, but good on the ground policing would. It would at least ensure a proportionate response.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	I would be prepared to pay a lot more if I could be assured that rural areas would receive the same police attention/protection as towns and Norwich. At the moment it's pitiful.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		the precept was raised last year, that should be sufficient	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
No increase in the policing element		I do not ever see any policing done in the area I live in and things are, in my opinion getting worse. I do not see why we should be expected to pay more and more every year for nothing in return.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		there is no policing in south Norfolk anyway, closest units invariably being at Wymondham. any increase only papers over cracks, and I would see no benefit. but of course this consultation is a sham, and the rise will go ahead anyway	South Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	50p a week, meaning a yearly increase of only £26, thus increasing monthly council tax by £12.25; in order not only protect the current policing model, but also to increase neighbourhood patrols, go some way to provide a policing alternative for the loss of PCSO's in terms of visible policing as well as increasing armed policing to counter the rising terror threat seems like a small amount to pay.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	It would be good to see greater visibility of officers but fully understand that they cannot be everywhere. Support the Chief Constable in his endeavours to do away with PCSOs in favour of warranted officers, hopefully many will be drawn from the ranks of the PCSOs where they fulfil the recruitment criteria	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	I would be prepared to pay a higher amount if it meant retaining P.C.S.O.s who are vital to neighbourhood policing. Our PCSO is the only police we see in this village except if there is some emergency.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We all need the police it is a vital service especially now in the 21st century.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I was a former Norfolk PCSO back in early 2000 and a PC in 2007. I think what is being done to PCSO's in this county is disgraceful. It will not surprise me if PCSO's are re-enstated when the powers that be realise how valuable they are in helping stop crime and providing reassurance. Also, good luck with finding PC's that want to fill the boots of PCSO's. Most PC's I know never liked PCSO's anyway and have influenced the decision to get rid of them. Shameful! I hope the Chief Constable and the PCC keep their promise and find other roles for so many deserving and hard working individuals.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		Not if I had all the money in the world!	Broadland

No increase in the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		You got rid of the PCSO's! Less police presence in villages	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It is vitally important to keep a uniformed police presence on the streets	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element of			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Council Tax already takes almost 10% of my salary!	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		I feel we pay enough as it is. Would my extra money buy an extra police officer in my village? I think not. Maybe ask the cities where the extra money will actually go to!	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Try telling your political masters in the conservative party to stop cutting funding for policing and other public services.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	The Police are an essential and highly valued public service, and deserve the right level of funding. I would be in favour of a temporary increase of, say, 12%, to allow Norfolk Police to rebalance the books. However, we should be cautious that we do not let this become a precedent for long-term Police funding. Perhaps doing this for a trial period of one or two years, to allow time to negotiate increased funding from central government. This should be followed by a full review with govt/public consultation to influence a longer term (UK wide) strategy to funding. Sustaining and improving the communication, to the public, of how the extra money is being spent, will be important.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	it is nonsensical not to allow me to go to screen two of the options without having select one from screen 1. Neither the stay the same or 2% are what I want but had to select the latter to progress to the preferred 25p a week increase. Ludicrous.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	I am not sure that removing PCSOs is actually going to save money	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Happy to pay a little more for such an important service	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Broadland

No increase in the policing element of		What police. I hear their sirens day and night but haven't seen a police officer for some years.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	The police in Norfolk are over stretched and under paid. With the increase in incidents that require police attention there needs to be more of them at ground zero, and if a small increase in council tax achieves this then I for one am willing to pay.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need more frontline police to deal with lower level crimes, to halt the continued increase threshold in what is acceptable to turn a blind eye to and to prevent it developing into more serious crime.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		The government has taken this money away... why should it be down to us to keep paying for their decisions... I cannot afford a rise in council tax every year!	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		Through personal experience I feel that the police have no interest in ordinary citizens and with what they consider minor crimes. However, being physically attacked or burgled is a serious crime to an individual. Less money spent on speed cameras/ road side "stake outs" and more focus on protection would accrue more support for the police service.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of		My rent has already increased more than my pay this year without adding in increases for groceries, utilities and running a vehicle to actually be able to work rurally. If we continue to allow cuts by bridging the gap I believe the government will continue to expect us to do this. I fully understand the situation as a former employee of Norfolk Constabulary.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	It's all understandable and we need police presence but you also have to deliver "value for money" and look after every penny. Stop wasting money on Cintra or Big Word interpreters that are costing £30 per hour, reduce pension contributions (police is known to have one of the best pension pots). Look into the absence due to sickness.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Are you sure the Chief has cut all non essential back office staff? I struggle to pay our bills now, please think of the struggling tax payer	Norwich

No increase in the policing element		I expect better from a conservative PCC, reduce costs not increase our tax	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	Good luck we need you more than ever.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element		Seeing as how PCSO's are being cut from our streets I would not agree to pay more when we are getting less for our money. They are a valuable asset in community policing, dealing with ASB and intel gathering. They mop up everything response officers don't have time for. I assume low level ASB will no longer get dealt with as resources will be elsewhere. I also believe that central government are responsible for funding public services not local councils. Perhaps if the Tory PCC and his counterparts across the country would actually speak out against his own conservative party cuts and austerity measures, we might actually get properly funded police forces without the need to go cap in hand to local constituents.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Good policing is required. This means proper training and procedures and high calibre officers who choose this career path. A price needs to be paid for such a tough profession. Remember. Cash follows the solution. Solve and the funds should follow.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		You should not be expecting ordinary people to fund a basic police force - you should stop following the Party line and instead demand that the Government increases the police budget as it is currently woefully insufficient. Stand up for the people of Norfolk (who you are meant to represent!) instead of worrying about furthering your career within the Conservative Party.	Broadland

No increase in the policing element		I believe that what the PCC said about PCSO's during a meeting, should not allow him to even be in a position to make these sorts of decisions about how much council tax the public should pay. The PCC is rude, and unprofessional, everything a PCSO is not!	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		It's wrong that the PCC should be telling Norfolk Constabulary how to spend the income they get. He is not impartial and is nothing more than a Conservative bully boy.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Norfolk Constabulary have already cut PCSO's to fund technology and areas of expertise that are NOT required in Norfolk. I object to paying for the Chief Constable's retirement fund.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		no increase whatsoever thank you	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		Norwich
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I do not wish to pay more and lose PCSO's	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Broadland
No increase in the policing element		Front line policing needs to be protected. The problem is too many highly paid senior officers. Front line policing is more in touch with the general public.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	The cuts have gone too far. The government needs to understand that people are fed up with wasting money on overseas aid and suffering endless cuts just to feed a greedy EU. The referendum was crystal clear and since 72% of don't want a deal, they to leave the EU completely and stop paying them any more money. Outside the EU tariffs will bring an extra at least £10 billion into the government's coffers that can then be used properly to rebuild our armed forces, police service, ambulance, fire and NHS. THIS IS THE CLEAR MANDATE OF THE BRITISH PEOPLE. IT'S TIME IT WAS ENACTED. Doing deals with a corrupt EU purely for the benefit of big business will only lead to more cuts in police numbers and services.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		You had a good rise last year niw do what every one else has to and fund the savings, start by giving back your huge PCC wage and give your service like any other councillor in the county!!	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		Breckland

No increase in the policing element		The abolishment of PCSO's from my local area will be a significant loss to the community. I have found PCSO's to directly reduce crime within the area I live and have found they are an invaluable resource to our police force. I therefore would consider an increase in my contribution to the policing budget (through an increase in council tax) on the condition that PCSO's be reintroduced to my local area. I am firmly against a rise in council tax if this is not feasible.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		WHAT A JOKE LORNE GREEN, LAST YEAR YOU MADE THE RESIDENTS OF NORFOLK BELIEVE IF THEY PAID AN EXTRA 2% IN THE BUDGET OF COUNCIL TAX RE POLICING YOU WOULD KEEP THE PCSOS FRONT LINE, You lied! You should be ashamed and retire!	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		"I would not support your proposed increase in Council Tax to quote your words " if I had all the money in the world."	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element		I WOULD NOT WANT TO PAY JUST UNDER ANOTHER 2% TOWARDS THE POLICE/PCC COUNCIL TAX.....EVEN IF I HAD ALL THE MONEY IN THE WORLD!!! Your words Loren Green!!!	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		It was raised last year, and you will continue to ask for a raise. The reason funding has been cut is because of your government! I find it perverse that as a conservative PCC you continue to complain about funding cuts yet it is a direct outcome of gross under funding from the conservatives for many years. So you want the tax's raised to offset this lack of funding! Cake and eat it springs to mind.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	I am only willing to pay increase if money goes directly to keeping PCO's on the frontline in Norfolk - not other projects	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I see the police doing very little in my area, if I do see them they are usually just sat somewhere ignoring people using phones while driving- extremely poor and unhelpful	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	With increasing populations and less discipline amongst the public further cuts are ridiculous. The police service must be properly funded to be effective.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I would only be happy for an increase if this ridiculous farce of sacking all PCSO's is stopped immediately. You are reducing policing and I believe would continue to do so even if I paid more each week.	South Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	why do the police need to so many cars to a broken down car on the a11when there is a hard shoulder	Norwich
No increase in the policing eleme			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou	Removing pcso from areas who do not have access to direct stations is only going to stretch resources further than they are already	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme
No increase in the policing eleme			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	No	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		Eliminating all PCSOs will leave communities more at risk, lessen security felt by residents and lead to increased anti social behaviour. This is a mistake and even with an increase in Council tax, these service people will still lose their jobs.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	sorry but we do not have increases of the type you are after.If my washing machine or the like breaks down.I cannot ask the world to pay.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou	I believe savings can always be found and we should not be taxed so highly on everything. I pay enough tax as it is.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		I can barely afford my council tax now let alone raising it again!!	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou	I think that the government should be providing more money centrally for policing.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme			Breckland
No increase in the policing eleme		The police do not offer good value for money and spend time on things that are not important	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		too many cuts have been made and we are expected to pay more and still not see a pcso or police officer	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	This is not a very good survey and does not ask enough questions and does not address the fact that there would possibly be a vote to increase the funding if PCSOs were retained/increased.	Norwich
No increase in the policing eleme			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		I pay too much council tax anyway. Me and my partner live in a 3 bedroom house and are paying 234 a month! I dont think we should need to pay anymore!!!	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Broadland
No increase in the policing eleme			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme			Norwich
No increase in the policing eleme			King's Lynn and West Norfolk

No increase in the policing element of		we already get a lesser service now PCSO's are being Axed, and you want us to pay more?	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	Love the update to North Walsham police station. The Police Cadet programme is excellent too!	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	The Government needs to act? Funding for Police and all public services have suffered. Keep us safe	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		We are now paying about 2,800 for council tax and it is going to go up again in 2018.How much more do we have to pay and not receive much in return for our money..	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I don't support the recent decision to remove PCSOs. My view is that, in the long-term they both save money and help prevent crime. Working at community level means they help prevent crime before it happens, and build trust in the police force within the community. I'd be happy to pay more Council Tax to keep PCSOs.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would like to see a properly funded and well resourced police force with more police officers on the streets.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	In the years 2000 - 2007 I was employed as the Home Watch Administrator for South Norfolk based at Diss Police Station. I shared an office with 15 Special Constables at 2000 and 1 Special by 2007, Although I have met and worked with many PCSOs, some very good and some not so, I have always believed the Force should have given more support to recruiting Specials rather than employ PCSOs. I am also saddened at the reduction of interest in Home Watch (Neighbourhood watch) and believe it was a very grave error handing over the Home/Neighbourhood Watch to the Police Communications and PCSOs, making the 7 civilian Administrators redundant. I have much more to say but maybe I should communicate my thoughts at another time. time.	Breckland

Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		The more you get the more you want. We see no patrols and are generally visible by their absence. If you want more money get some speeding cameras along the main routes through the Broadland area, North Walsham Rd and Wroxhan Rd would be a good start.	Broadland
No increase in the policing eleme
No increase in the policing eleme		Why do we need a PCC? Eradicate PCC's and their wages would pay for more Policing. Another level of bureaucracy not needed.	Broadland
No increase in the policing eleme			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	None at the moment	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou	I would like the Police and other local authorities to start pushing back against these continuing government cuts instead of accepting them. Eventually our key systems will wither and collapse.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	Don't mind paying the extra as long as efficiency savings are still continued. Why not merge completely with Suffolk and save a layer of top salaries!	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Breckland
No increase in the policing eleme		I didn't vote for this government but all the police I know did!	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou	I would like priorities to reassessed. Cromer was failed spectacularly this summer and yet someone seen potentially Hare coursing, was responded with numerous police and support. Surely human distress should receive a greater response than that of a hare. That's why so many people will be cross at the thought of more money for no apparent benefit to the community.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	I would be happy to pay the maximum increase as long as there was an assurance that most of the additional money went on front line provision.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		Broadland

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	I walk my dogs twice a day can't recall the last time I saw a policeman !	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing elem			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou	more diversity on the police force and more open transparency.	Norwich
No increase in the policing elem			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing elem			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou	Keep the PCSOs, or replace them with an equivalent number of VISIBLE PCs.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing elem		I would refuse to pay any further increase i council tax due to you removing valuable PCSO's from the force I would have no problem paying more if it was to safeguard the PCSO's jobs as they provide a vaulable service to our communities.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	I am happy to pay for an increase on the council tax knowing that the police are there. even the criminals call the police when they did help.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing elem		I don't want to see further cuts. But it's unfair of the government to expect local councils to keep raising the precept. It's time to take a stand and say no more- the government should immediately reverse their budget cuts to the police.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	As a serving Police Officer, I can see first hand how the cuts have eroded the force and placed immense pressures on staff and officers. Maybe it isn't the job of local government to shore up the Police, but if central government aren't prepared to pay, then the money must come from somewhere.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	With my own income unlikely to increase by much more than 2% I feel the status quo must be maintained. However something above 2% wouldn't be unreasonable but the jump to 4.5% is excessive.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	Just make sure the increase is spent on police officers and their support not senior officers salaries.	Norwich

No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Off-setting national budgetary restrictions by raising local tax to pay for levels of essential services steers towards a postcode lottery. Affluent areas get better funded policing than poorer areas. National government need to be presented with the reality of their spending plans, not a reality which is rose-tinted by increased local taxation.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		Uniform presence is decreasing on the streets and rural policing has been abandoned with sacking of all your PCSO's	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per week	The reserves held are far in excess to the needs and these should be reduced first!	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per week
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would be a 12% increase	I value the police service and will gladly pay a bit extra	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would be a 6% increase		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would be a 12% increase	You get what you pay for. I don't expect public services to be financed by borrowing any more than I would borrow money to finance my own day to day living costs.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would be a 6% increase		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would be a 12% increase		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would be a 4.5% increase		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would be a 12% increase	Any increase in council tax to fund extra police budget needs to demonstrate a real increase in police effectiveness ie real resources , and not just funding existing staff costs.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would be a 12% increase		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		The government should be providing the funds needed not the taxpayer. We are a very rich country there is absolutely no need for tax rise.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would be a 12% increase	I suggest you let us know just how the extra money would be used. E.g. More officers?	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		we dont need a pcc , or deputy and admin people ,useless waste of our money, put the money towards the police force who do need it.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would be a 6% increase		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would be a 6% increase		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I don't want to pay an extra - just under 2% towards Council Tax- "NOT IF I HAD ALL THE MONEY IN THE WORLD" !!!!!	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per week	Policing funding has been cut by central government. I have not had a actual pay rise for at least seven years, good prices have gone up, household bills have gone up, and now I'm expected to try and fill a hole left by central government for a police service that's on its knees, he is having a laugh!! I am not prepared to pay any more!!!!!!	Great Yarmouth

No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element		The government needs to help the police in these times of austerity - not the taxpayer.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	We need a change of government attitude to essential services be it policing or bus to recognise their importance.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Any additional money MUST come from central government. Austerity doesn't work.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element		I have had no income increase for many years and resent the annual increased demands from NCC and the police. The image of the police in my area is not positive - they seem to be failing to be seen to do the job. This isn't just in Cromer Carnival week, but daily. Why should I pay more for a service that I don't seem to be benefiting from?	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	If one wants adequate police cover then hopefully, if we increase their funding we should expect some improvement!	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	Pity about the Specials. Ideal to have both but increased PC numbers	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	The only problem is, if we are all prepared to pay more on our council tax, will this let the government make more cuts for our police and other important services.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		What have the salary increases for the Chief Superintendent and other senior Police officers been over the last 10 years. In my opinion they can take a pay cut and give the money saved to the lower ranks.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element		Definitely NO increase in the police part of the Council Tax. Reason...we as members of the public have very or no say in how police money is spent. Just another tax from an already heavily taxed population.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk

No increase in the policing element		If the Police limited the amount of work they picked up from every other agency who are having to make cuts then there may be opportunities to save. I understand and agree without question that that a person life and their safety / welfare will always come before any cost but consideration needs to be taken (and not an easy choice or decision to make) on what the Police will no longer do. There seems to be a real feeling from officers of being stretched and more like a fire fighting approach to preventing / solving crime.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Funding of the police SHOULD come from central government. We pay our taxes to pay for the police. If there is an increase we NEVER know where the money is going. We have NEVER seen a police car in this area!!!	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	My pay will only be going up by 1% (public sector) - we're in this together so keep it low.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		You need to look at the vast areas you are wasting money like new kit that is purchased and not needed. Irresponsible spending in areas where it could be greatly reduced and you need to start looking after your officer and staff welfare better and listening to the front line who are stretched to the limit and not being heard when they say they cannot cope and are doing everybody else's jobs but their own. You are making in excess of 150 PCSO's redundant not to mention all of the other people you have made redundant over the last three to 5 years and now you want those people to put more money into the police. Talk about kick people twice. It's disgraceful.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	There is NOT an increased demand for Police service, BUT there is a demand that NO more Police services are reduced. Doing away with PCSO-replaced by more Police how will that cost less?	Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Levels of policing are unacceptably low	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Pay more for less??	North Norfolk

No increase in the policing element		I think it is disgraceful that you are asking to raise the police precept once again after only raising it last year under the premise that it was to save safer neighbourhood teams, of which you have just decimated by getting rid of the constabulary's most valuable asset and its eyes and ears (Police Community support officers) let alone being the only visible police presence who have the time and inclination to talk to people.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It must be expected that with increased Council Tax there will be an outcry from the public, but Do they want an effective and active Police force or not?	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I am keen to see more visible policing. The use of mobile phones by drivers on the A47 Acle straight between 0600 & 0700 is disgusting but no police means it will carry on.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		You've sanctioned the cut of PCSO's in Norfolk. There will be far less visible policing in my community. It's wrong to ask for more money when you and the police give me less	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Why should I pay extra for a lesser service. The cut in PCSO's is a massive mistake and the additional 81 officers is not going to cover the shortfall, as for the introduction of the neighbourhood teams, this is not going to replace what's been lost as these officers will be drawn away to deal with crime and RTC which were covered by the PCSO's. I heard the spin given about the comparisons of a PC and PCSO and it's an incomparable role and to say the PCSO has less powers then why has Norfolk given them only 26 of the available 100 powers. BTW I'm not a PCSO but can see the rise in crime, ASB, drugs, gangs and violence. Reduction in support services, youth activities and CCTV from many estates is creating problems and now the reduction in visible policing and intelligence gathering is going to send us back to the 90's where Crime was high and estates became no go areas of degeneration. I hope the next PCC has a greater understanding of prevention is better than cure.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		North Norfolk

No increase in the policing element of		WHY do we pay for police we do NOT have as claimed? The ONLY times we see police in Downham Market is when they are shopping in Tesco's. There are NO patrols seen on A10 EVER. Many motorists with faulty lights, speeding and tailgating, but NO police seen in YEARS, other than when there are crashes, NOT accidents.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Would be nice to see Police Officers carrying out foot patrols in the small villages, it has been years since I have seen a Police Officer or a PCSO walking around my village, only time we see Police is driving through.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	I would rather the council reduced their budget so that the savings made went to the police so that our council tax remained the same. Failing that, I do not object to extra funding for the police which to me is money far better spent than on some 'other' areas which seem to attract funding without question.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		Drastically reduce the number of senior officers together with their allowances as Norfolk is seriously top heavy	Breckland
No increase in the policing element of		It will not help the situation.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Do not get value for money anymore	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Agreement is contingent on not reducing the number of officers (either full police or PCSO's) in the Safer Neighbourhood teams - especially in Sheringham & Cromer	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Not if I had all the money in the world - should not be getting rid of pcsos - terrible decision	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Not if I had all the money in the world !	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need more police out on the streets or at least keep the PSO's.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Scrapping PCSOs shows the idea that prevention is unacceptably low in your agenda. Areas such as Kings Lynn housing estates have high numbers of pedestrian only areas. Removing PCSO s reduces effectiveness of policing therefore increasing costs. This combined with the unacceptably high management to staff ratio renders your request unacceptable to me.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		The police would just squander any extra money and spend it on traffic police not crime fighting. they need to tackle the travellers problems round the coast every summer (I live in hunstanton and we go into lock down every aug/sept) its unacceptable that the police virtually run away from traveller issues.	North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would be happy to pay £1.00 per week if it meant keeping our PCSOs or seeing Constables patrolling, even if only occasionally! A police car riding through the main street of the village does nothing to deter crime!	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	The cap and program of austerity is the working of Lorne Greene's political party. Maybe the position of Police & Crime Commissioner should be reviewed to help cut costs.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Categorically no. An increase was applied last year. after the same question was raised. Furthermore my council tax bills from the past years show a year on year percentage increase to Norfolk Constabulary.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Not That could be shown on here	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	It went up last year and still difference in policing I know the front line officers are frazzled and still more officers are being taken off the front line , Athena is a joke and the so called new station computers donet work and done have speakers Which is ridiculous when more training is pods casts etc and you cannot heat a thing !!	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	This consultation is a very practical approach, Policing is a vital aspect of sustaining a coherent and self disciplined social culture and do hope others feel the same.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	The situation is desperate. Everyone should be prepared to give a little more	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
No increase in the policing element		we have had increases over the last few years of 2percent Never seen a police man other than going shopping using a police car !!	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		You promised to protect frontline with previous increases and failed to do so. I wish for the Police to have more money, but to spend it properly.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		We are already being over taxed and should not have to pay even more for a police service which is actually giving the community less now.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I think everyone would be happy to pay more tax if we knew for sure it was going to the Police, however, ideally the tax evaders should pay the correct tax in the UK, then there would be plenty of funding for the Police and NHS	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		We are already being over taxed and should not have to pay even more for a police service which is actually giving the community less now.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	we need more officers not less	Breckland
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element		You have not protected or provided the service you promised last time	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Get rid of commishner that wold be a great saving	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	It's very difficult to say we would want to commit to pay more than the 2 % when working within the Police we don't even get that in a pay rose. Where are we supposed to be finding our extra money for rising costs? If the Police do this with the Council tax will the NHS follow suit? Unfortunately I have to use the NHS a lot for a genetic condition and If I have to pay more anywhere it would be here. Waiting times are up for everything and that Impacts daily life for a lot of people.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Last year saw an increase with the promise of keeping neighbourhood policing. Now with PCSOs going and what will amount to the end of neighbourhood policing, I would not be prepared to pay any more.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Police presence and availability in Norfolk has to be increased. The closure of such stations as Loddon and Stalham was totally unacceptable.	South Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	This 19p per week increase should at least maintain services at the present level if I understand the email	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		I don't think that the way policing is currently structured or carried out has changed in line with societal change and progress and I do wonder whether this mismatch between approach and environment underpins an increase in cost. Modernising working practices does not translate into simply seeking to do historic activities more efficiently. I can't help but feel that a more effective result might be achieved by considering what society's needs in respect of security are and what role the police, in conjunction with other security and emergency services, should play in meeting those needs. However, at present the focus appears to be solely on the funding requirements of a static model, thus turning the police into an archaic money pit. Treating the tax paying public as an insufficiently tapped resource is simply not viable in the longer term.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Would like to see part of any additional funding allocated to local beat policing	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Maybe look at decreasing top staff's pay/privileges before asking us people left vulnerable from his terrible decisions/leadership to fork out more to pay for his driver & national work	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Millions are being spent on building and refurbishing functional Norfolk police stations. PCSO's (despite their limited powers) are still experienced officers on the street/frontline and are being sacked costing 1000's in redundancies. Millions being spent in updating an airwaves system that is already fit for purpose and now you expect us, the public who are receiving a poor service due to cuts, to pay more to carrying on funding a lesser service. I vote freeze.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	raise the age a police officer may retire, and the age to take early retirement. Fall in line like the rest of us..	Broadland
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	More visible Policing needed!	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need more Police officers and retain Police stations, more traffic patrols to stop dangerous driving is a must	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Great Yarmouth

No increase in the policing element of		There is further room for savings both at ACPO, Supt level and PCC with the proper collaboration of both forces and also stop trips to conferences which are totally unnecessary and paid for out of the budget.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Central Government should also increase police budget.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	My income has not been raised by this amount (I am a public sector worker and there has been a freeze on my income for many years now). I don't see why my real income should fall any further than it already has done so - I am absolutely not supportive of additional money being raised from the already hard pressed taxpayer	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Spend money on Visible Police Officers. Not on office staff.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		Willing to contribute extra if PCSO are retained and senior admin and PCC are scrapped. More national crime groups, one agency for vehicle procurement.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		The Constabulary is top heavy with senior officers when more constables are required, plus the force has invested in a computer system that makes everything they do less efficient at a large cost. Not just in the contract with the provider but in terms of how much time it takes to do anything. The force would be much more efficient without a system that takes three times as long to complete any task compared to that prior to it's implementation.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Police presence is essential. I would like to see the retention of Police Community Support officers who provide a valuable link and serve a very useful purpose in our area - Hockering, Dereham.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We just haven't got enough visible police around - I do realise that they may be there, but not visible - seeing a PC or a PCSC gives us all a feeling of greater safety especially in those areas where few police are seen on a regular basis	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	we need to be realistic ...if we want to retain our police services we have to pay for them...don't want a lawless society people complain about paying council tax at the same time expect a bobby on their doorstep in times of trouble you don't get ought for nought	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	Fully support the proposals	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	I am afraid you have too many highly paid officers that are not engaged in what ordinary people would consider useful police activities. We need less back-office and more front line!	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I believe we should stop increasing council tax to send a clear message to Parliament. We will not fill the gaps they create through cost savings by increasing our council tax bills. Even though I vote Conservative, I do feel that we are being taken advantage of by the Government whom only seem to be benefiting the pockets of bureaucrats in the UK and Europe and show little mercy to the public. While overspending on public assets as Labour plan would jeopardise the economy, I do feel that some concessions need to be made and by refusing to pay more, they will have to fill the gap or except that when the statistics show increases in crime, a lack of public support and relations with police, and a drop in reported and solved crimes, that the Government will be shamed into action. If we keep giving them a fallback we are only helping them and neglecting ourselves.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would be happy to pay more council tax if I could be sure it went directly to front line policing and was not absorbed in administration costs	Breckland

No increase in the policing element		I wouldn't mind if police were more visible in the villages. These increases seem to be to keep police numbers up in Norwich. If this is the case perhaps they would like to pay more. People also are not getting the wage rises to be able to keep paying for increases in Council Tax whether it's from the police or from the councils themselves. A small increase could and would take people over the edge of what they can afford. Like the County Council the waste that goes on in the back room offices and from upper grade employees needs looking at again. You do not need to get rid of police officers just upper management. I for one cannot afford any more increases in Council tax I am afraid I am not a bottomless pit of money, even for 19 or 50p a week.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		another rise for less neighborhood policing like last year.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Every year sees an increase in our payment with little in return. The payment of final salary pensions should be stopped and the number of senior police officers reduced	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	As pensioners we are under pressure due to inflation - cost of food - council tax etc. and our pensions have not increased accordingly. we have reached our limit.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element		Senior police officers are paid far too much	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	Will all the pcso be removed, in the budget	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
No increase in the policing element		All we ever see of the Police is when they are shopping in Tesco, Morrisons McDonalds and Kentucky Fried Chicken. Are Police cars insured for personal shopping?, government cars weren't insured or allowed when I worked in law enforcement. The officers I have approached have been indifferent, surly and downright dismissive, that is not a service. When I was a victim of crime the officer was more interested in accusing me of being difficult than trying to help me. Better organisation and discipline would help reduce the cost of the Police.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need the additional investment to enable the police to fulfil their obligation to society	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	none	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		You just got rid of PCSOs, who are the only ones that do anything in neighbourhood. I reject this increase	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I am prepared to pay what is necessary for us to have a good and effective police service.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	I think the fact that Lorne Green and others exist is a drain on policing, coupled with Simon Bailey's support officers like drivers and such is unnecessary. I think more police should be available and I think unnecessary bureaucratic staff should be removed to make room ie outsource HR, finance and others to the county council as before giving more police - we see nothing in West Norfolk and more odd activity is targeted here and upsetting for those affected..... it's a mess - I used to work for Norfolk police and was proud but it's a total mess - take expensive police out of the equation when retired and use inexpensive clerical staff.....	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Something has to be done to reverse the police cuts. Theresa May will be known as the one who completely ruined the Great British Police Service. What is frustrating is that when not if the country becomes lawless the people she will blame are the PCC's and Police Officers for not using their budgets wisely.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
No increase in the policing element		Crime rates in Norfolk are relatively low in comparison to other areas of the UK I therefore see no justification for increasing the Council Tax rate. Perhaps costs could be reduced by no allocating company cars to senior officers?	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Norfolk Police good value for money, agree with CC re PCSO policy	King's Lynn and West Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	The population of Norfolk need to realise that to sustain the level of Policing they want, and need to be safe while going about daily business, they will have to make a very, very small contribution. An extra 50p a week is £26 over the course of a year. A small price to pay for the big impact it would have on Norfolk's Policing and ultimately them as individuals. All too often you hear comments around never seeing a 'bobby' on the beat and complaints around the Police not being able to resolve and fight crime effectively; these people making these remarks need to acknowledge that without their help this will never change. And in this financial climate, with the public service's funding and the savings Police Forces are having to make, it is likely this is the only way to inject 'cash' into the Police to keep Norfolk safe.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		Give volunteers police powers to make arrests and to report non arrestable offences. Or alternatively change the laws to give these powers to anybody to facilitate law enforcement. If this is unacceptable at least hand over non arrestable offences / reportable offences to private companies eg. Littering and dog fouling. We do not want G4S multi nationals taking control should be appointed by individual police forces on contract. The ethos would be citizens taking responsibility for their own law enforcement. This is because police and council officials are not interested in low level crime and do not meet their statutory duties and always quote lack of resources for failing to do so. Therefore an increase in the budget will make no difference to present attitudes and failure in the system. The massive amount of paperwork required by PACE should simply be done away with to reduce costs. This is radical but something has to change we cannot afford to pay more tax.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Let's fund proper policing and make Norfolk one of the best Constabularies in the UK	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element of			South Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would support an increase of up to 12% on my council tax, provided that money actually went to the front line. In all the changes in the local Policing model, on paper it looks like the frontline is being supported and in actuality fact these changes place even more pressure on those frontline officers as resources are diverted to Safeguarding and Investigations roles. The frontline uniformed officer is the main entry point for calls to service, including the Safeguarding and Investigation element. We are also utilized by them to make enquiries and perform welfare checks etc. Creating more investigation roles only creates more work for us.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Mr Green, you are a Conservative. It is up to you and your party to find greater money to prove we are "in it together" rather than cutting everything to the bone and complaining about it later.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	As long as rural communities see the benefits of this with a visible policing presence, not just a reactive force which it is now. Investment in not just towns and Norwich like is happening now.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Collaboration has not delivered efficiency and effectiveness or financial saving in many areas. I would suggest merging of Forces would deliver far more consistent savings, definitely in terms of Force Executives and PCC offices.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	We need a strong police force and we need to pay for that	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	The Government needs to STOP sending our money Overseas. It needs to be spent in the UK. All future budgets sorted , to get more Bobbies & Police staff, plus anything else that Norfolk needs. Also just "why?" do we need a PCC, that's the job of the Chief Constable to over- see budget and other Policing matters.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	If an increase is allowed then there has to be an increase in police presence	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	No	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element		The precept increases every year, but my wages don't we all have to take tough decisions	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich

Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		Council tax is already very high	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	I can't afford any more of an increase.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	I am concerned this will be only part of increase in overall council taxes. Norfolk and Suffolk need to merge just not collaborate. This is where the real savings can be made.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing eleme		Every other part of council tax is going to increase yet again, wages are not going up to match this and how can you justify asking for even more than the 2% even giving an option of 12%!? If that went through could you imagine, every other department would do the same. Ridiculous.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I support the police in any way I can, but my worry is, will the police receive all of the increase! There I have doubts that you will. I do not trust the powers to be, but I hope in this case that you will get 100% of the money.	Broadland
No increase in the policing eleme		No way, cutting valuable front line officers then having the check to ask for more money only to state more cuts to come. PCC should step down and re allocate his entire budget to the Constabulary.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing eleme			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		Broadland
No increase in the policing eleme			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	Where is the consultation about the proposed closure of Acle and Caister police stations? How is the rural community of East Norfolk to be policed ?	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	I am retired and on a fixed, and reducing, income. I am not a bottomless pit!	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing eleme		We are NOT getting the service we have paid for already. No more money from the Tax Payer. Make the deficit up by cancelling the HS2 and the Brexit EU payment. There is no excuse for the Police failings to the people of Cromer. 200,000 more people have moved into Norfolk in the last 10 years, thats a lot of tax receipts for very little return.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		South Norfolk

No increase in the policing element of		Council tax is expensive enough as it is with more and more people suffering financial hardship in trying to cover this as the current price let alone with any increase. The increase wouldn't stop there other elements would increase it too. There are a lot of services Council Tax covers including policing which doesn't get supplied to residents so what guarantee is there that the increase would assist with this? there isn't. Its robbing peter to pay paul and I think it is completely unfair for residents to bear the brunt of this when more can be done in house to assist with the cuts. so no increase on policing side of council tax	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per week	We would agree to a larger increase if none went to top up the pension fund. which has not been mentioned.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would be a 12% increase		Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		More tax through the back door! When is it going to stop? let everything get so bad and then perhaps our useless MPs might wake up to the fact that our incomes are not on elastic!	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would be a 12% increase		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Households and businesses have to deal with increasing costs and no increases in income - why should you be any different and where do you think we get the extra money from (no magic money tree in our garden !) ?	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would be a 6% increase		Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		With the reduction in local policing and safer neighbourhood activity, the public are getting less for more. Without PCSOs there will be little to no coverage to deal with volume crime and asb which matters to the majority of people.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would be a 6% increase		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would be a 12% increase		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would be a 12% increase	Keep the Police Stations open. We may never go in there, but they serve the purpose of showing that the Police are there for us. That they are not some human CCTV camera that appears from the sky to upset people. We need to keep the familiar sight of Police Stations amongst our houses to make it clear that they are a part of all communities , open to all and approachable. The whole country needs more money going into the Police Budget NOT Foreign Aid.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would be a 12% increase		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would be a 12% increase		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would be a 6% increase		North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	£26.00 a year increase is nothing... the police need far more resources and the only way they can achieve it is for us, the public, to pay for it.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
No increase in the policing element		The government can afford to fund more policing, they need to stop over funding themselves with lavish expenses and stop wasting money on false wars	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We need to maintain a higher level of policing and this can only be done with more funding.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would
No increase in the policing element			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	I could afford these amounts but others can't.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	Would prefer to pay only the 3% increase that i will get in my pension	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		you cannot keep paying more and more on the bill it is nearly unpayable now	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	In my personal opinion I feel it necessary to increase funding for Policing. There are higher demands placed on the service and as such higher funding is needed to remain proactive and efficient. It would enable change to reflect the types of demand placed upon Policing by our society.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	A brave and sensible decision to axe PCSOs this money is better spent on police officers.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		There was a 2% rise last time to protect front line policing and not a year passed when they cut it. So no I don't want an increase if it means actually cutting neighbourhood policing. Shame on mr Greene for even coming to us with his begging bowl again.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	There is not a demand for MORE Police service, there is a demand to REPLACE the already lost services. At the moment Police is steadily being eroded, there is NO Police traffic enforcement these days, (except speeding -too easy) The following is NOT enforced- Mobile phone usage, single headlights, MOT, Road Tax, Insurance. excessive motorcycle exhaust noise.	Breckland

Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	Like everyone else you must live within your means. You do not need big expensive cars all the time, you do not need to shut owned buildings to rent new. Just 2 examples, it should be easy if you stood back and took a long hard look at yourselves and your indulgences.	Broadland
No increase in the policing elem			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Breckland
No increase in the policing elem			South Norfolk
No increase in the policing elem			North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing elem			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	It is wrong that the gov is effectively forcing the public to fund their Constabulary. This is something they should be more open and transparent about.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		Norwich
No increase in the policing elem		They have enough money and we receive a poor service.. but why you asking the public because you ever listen to the public.	Norwich
No increase in the policing elem		After the debacle in cromer this summer, then no chance of an increase	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Broadland
No increase in the policing elem			Norwich
No increase in the policing elem		The amount of waste within the force is ridiculous. The cost of running the police headquarters must now be half the budget. Money wasted on bling projects such as the Police boat and tow vehicle which nobody is qualified to use off road, the purchase of loads of captive bolt pistols when the RTA problem was being covered by free Labour.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	extra monies ring-fenced for front line services, not more office staff.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	£26 a year? For more police on the streets? Anyone who wouldn't pay that must be daft.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou	I would have preferred the option of 3% or the rate of inflation as measured in September this year.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	I would pay 50p a week, it's only a cup of coffee each month and would mean open police stations, more PCs and maybe keeping the PCSOs.	Breckland
No increase in the policing elem			Breckland
No increase in the policing elem			Norwich
No increase in the policing elem			Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	is the amount from central government for policing being reduced?	King's Lynn and West Norfolk

No increase in the policing element		My perception is that we do not get any policing, so why would I be willing to give more of my scarce resource.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		Better use should be used of the money they got.. really do we need £35-40 road policing patrol cars..	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Please make Policing more friendly & approachable - less military storm troopers.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		When the police take more action against Travellers, and follow up crimes against law abiding people, but instead of trying take make money from	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		The PCC must think everyone is on his wages. What a joke! Not again please!	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		Why build new police station,s when you have stations built in the last 15 to 20 years then sell for peanuts.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		none	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I believe the police service needs the extra funding to maintain its dwindling services currently. If the extra funding is actually used to bring more frontline police officers and equipment I would fully support this.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Norwich
No increase in the policing element
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I have paid increases for policing for many years, and have only seen a reduction in visible policing. Instead of laying people off perhaps the planned building costs should be put on hold.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		Police work very hard but do not resolve reported crime very often just giving a crime number, do not answer 101 (just rings and rings). We need proper policing and less bureaucracy	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Maybe the PCC should take a cut in his wages to cover the extra amount??	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Stop cutting our police force	Breckland

No increase in the policing element of		Visible presence policing is constantly decreasing and with the removal of the PCSO, I think enough "money saving" has been completed.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	A good Police Force is worth paying for. No point moaning about lack of police to deal with problems if we are not prepared to support them financially.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		The Government should fully fund the police forces and not consistently keep coming back to rate payers to fund any overspend because of budget cuts.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		North Norfolk already gets a very poor deal when it comes to Police numbers. And cutting PCSO the only officers I see in the streets all year round is below the belt.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I would want this extra money to be spent informatively preferably with an EBP based approach	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		I did respond to the survey last year and did agree to an increase. My perception of the service is that it has declined - not even held a static position. I also resented the abolition of PCSOs	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		Norfolk police need to look at using efficiency tools to address their budget deficit. There is much wastage that could be reduced by simple good management and working practices yet they refuse to use these focussing on age old easy wins of reducing staff numbers. Having experienced this wastage first hand I suggested improvements repeatedly only to be ignored. The public in Norfolk are being lied to.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		You have made me redundant, i am not paying more for a service you are not providing to the community. My household budgets are tight enough, i dont even know if i can keep a roof over my family's head so perhaps if you had protected the front line i would have been willing to vote yes.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of
No increase in the policing element of			Breckland
No increase in the policing element of

No increase in the policing element		Getting rid of PCSO's is the worst decision made by Norfolk Constabulary, and nothing is mentioned in this budget plan of keeping PCSO's.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I absolutely object to any rise in council tax until the gross inefficiencies within the constabulary have been addressed. I worked for the constabulary until this year and have witnessed huge financial wastage in at least 2 departments. Overtime is not monitored with managers handing it out like confetti because it 'doesn't come out of their budget' and the force is a goldmine for REED recruitment agency because of poor recruitment practices. I requested a meeting with the PCC to discuss these and many other issues but never received a response. Job losses are unnecessary - accountability of managers at all levels is where financial savings lie.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		council tax keeps going up and we are not seeing any more policing presence on the streets!	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	No	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	A rise of 50p per week (around £2 per month) wouldn't be noticed by anyone other than those who are literally beyond the poverty line. This is common sense and anyone who objects to increased front line policing lives in cloud cuckoo land.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Local events in recent months from a ram-raid to take an ATM, theft of farm equipment, hair coursing etc. suggest a need for an increase in both visible presence and on call policing in our rural areas.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Bearing in mind it has been stated that 80% of the budget goes on staff costs it would be good to see more of these staff 'on the beat'!	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I absolutely support an increase; we can't have our cake and eat it too. If we want the Police to provide a better service then this will come at a cost. I hope other households vote the same.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	None other than I am disgusted at the Government's stance in cutting funding directly and indirectly.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Keep up the good work please	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland

No increase in the policing element		Policing is a public service and should be fully funded centrally.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It is not as simple as answering your specific questions, but has a bearing on the whole issue of central gov. choosing to continue to pass on the rising costs to the average person. This is the real issue that you should be addressing. In addition the question should be asked in conjunction with the other elements of Council Tax being increased which is inevitable, so the actual increase to the individual or family would be greater than you suggest due to a totality increase.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I think that payments should go direct to the police.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	we should save money by making police commissioners redundant	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		How can you ask for more money when you close stations & sack officers?	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	It is essential that we have a strong and approachable police force.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		After Cromer, the Police Force are clearly not using resources efficiently enough.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		My household budgets can not stretch any further. You said last time the rise would protect the frontline, which it obviously didn't. How can we rely on you this time. A conservative PCC asking the electorate to help the funding gap caused by a conservative government responsible for the cuts in the first place. Are you serious!!!!????	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		I am very disappointed that the PCSOs are going to be done away with. They have provided an extremely valuable service in our rural village and are the only police presence we ever see. I can't see the work that they have done with anti-social behaviour and communicating with young people, etc being done by the regular police force when the PCSOs go. Because of this I can't see that any extra funding is going to help the people of my village.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		North Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Society as it is emerging needs more policing but its not just about policing its about discipline and the police need more authority to act rather than be placed in situations where they are abused or harmed and in some cases unable to deal with the situation in hand because of peoples apparent rights which at times appear ridiculous given the situation that may be occurring.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I have selected the option to balance the budget. I may be receptive to making a larger contribution through our council tax but I need to have explained what the benefits I would see in terms of specific services affecting my community.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I appreciate that it is government policy, but I wonder why we need PCCs at all - they seem to be an expensive luxury and don't appear to do anything that the chief constables could not do.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would	but would it be going to help fund policing in rural areas? My worry is you have not specified where it would be spent, probably because you don't know. But rural policing is important with garden tools and farm machinery being stolen often, which then leads into houses.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I am quite happy for an increase if all services are maintained and the money is not wasted on administration.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would
No increase in the policing element		Far more savings are possible	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	We don't see why we should pay more money when you're continually reducing the service that we get.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	By paying more for policing. Can we have more access to local police stations.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Simply, I cannot afford to pay 19p per week!	Breckland
No increase in the policing element			Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	It is a disgrace that our essential services are underfunded. Particularly when we give foreign aid to countries with stronger economies than ours.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		It is ridiculous to suggest raising our council taxes by another 12 per cent.	Norwich

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	Prior to an additional increase it should be announced how the extra money will be spent.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou	Just manage it better and keep the PCSOs! They are the only visible policing in Norwich 99% of the time. They are a godsend.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	I am very disappointed at the loss of the PCSO role. They perform an important community service.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing elem			Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	It is utterly ridiculous that this consultation even has to happen. Policing is a national issue, as such, it should be paid for out of the National Budget, however, as the central government doesn't feel the need to adequately fund policing in the UK, we need to make up the difference. I am happy to pay whatever is necessary in order to support the men and women who go to work every day to protect the public.	Norwich
No increase in the policing elem			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou	Considering we already pay twice for this, once through normal taxes and again through council taxes it is a lot to be asked to pay more on top of what we have no choice about. It is not only the police that have their budgets cut, most households in the UK have had their budgets cut, but still you ask for more	Broadland
No increase in the policing elem		After this summer's debacle in Cromer a decrease in funding might be a more appropriate option.....	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	Crime stats show we need more police.	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing elem		If the police need more money, the salaries of the senior police should be lowered and their income tax increased, then increase the council tax for the wealthy, not the poor.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou	We need more police. End of story.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This wou	The issue is cost vs benefit. Drugs, road safety are the areas where benefit is needed. The proposition should have tangible benefit statements so that the Public can see what they are getting for their money. This depends on tourism, but summer and holiday periods are dangerous on the roads especially when they clash with big agriculture on the move. Harvest and Beet issues. The statement " we will invest in 4 more (say) road patrol cars in tourist areas and feeder roads and that will cost Xp per head per week" is a much more EFFECTIVE STATEMENT!	North Norfolk

No increase in the policing element of		We have no police present now so why have a increase for a poorer service	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would		North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Police officer and support staff numbers have fallen to dangerous levels, they cannot cope with emergency demands let alone normal day to day crime levels, action MUST be taken NOW the public DO NOT feel safe violent crime levels are rising ... Increase the police budget now	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I find the fact that the OPCC is a party political role very concerning. I would hope that the distribution of any additional policing would be based on need and not politics or voting behaviour.	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		These are very hard times for everyone especially those either in work on zero hours contract, who have not received a pay rise for, in some cases, 5 years or those who are facing redundancy. Not many people have the luxury of being in an employment area that offers secure pay, health and pension benefits at the level enjoyed by the police. We also have the situation where those with children are being penalised by the draconian stance taken by some schools regarding uniforms which can only be purchased at 'approved' (and costly) businesses etc etc the list could and does go on forever. So no to any rise in policing - cut your cloth and take some of the pain we are all enduring. Additionally I live in a totally rural part of the fens where we have little or no real crime, we never see a police officer from one year to the next - not that we want to see them as we all mainly look out and after each other so again NO	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		You are trying to take our pension before we have got it!!!!!!	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per week	Yet again you are after another above CPI increase. Live within your means like the rest of us!	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		Police and NHS funding is vital. I am a tax payer and would welcome a rise in income tax to share the burden, not just the Band D property owners. Come on let us be adults about this and stop all this time wasting pay up be safe and well.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	More CCTV Invest in technology.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Keep fast emergency response Wake up CPS Shake up legal 'requirements'	Breckland

No increase in the policing element of		I don't think the PCC understands how much every penny really does count for most Norfolk families..	Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		I feel there is excessive police presents at minor instances	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	Just think in these difficult times the last think common sense says. Do not lower the policing Budget. INCREASE. SADLY COMMON SENSE IS NOT SO COMMON	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	after Brexit it may be another matter BUT we ALL have issues with money and I would pay more to the NHS rather than the police as the service etc is much poorer	Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		the Police Do Not Need any Extra Money at all they Have More than enough Now. the Police waste so much time sitting & riding about in Cars Pick up trucks etc wasting time & Money ?	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Police are failing to deliver due to current financial problems. More money needed but MUST be spent wisely.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Low crime here; why should I care? But I do. I would hope that some of this extra cash, if agreed, would go to more road patrols and more effective policing of bad driving: speeding, using phones, drinking and anti-social petrolheads.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		we already pay tax on a multitude of incomes the government could offset this by a reduction on the brexit payment if it had the gumption.	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I hope others support the 50p increase.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	This money must go to front line officers and there equipment not back office pencil squeezers, data collectors or used to expand P.C projects that are currently in vogue at any one time	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I consider the freeze on Council Tax to be an erroneous policy. Even a small increase would help take the pressure of struggling service providers.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element of		We have had increases over the past few years whilst the council tac has been frozen.Many of us are on fixed incomes and need some respite from another levy on us	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I am chairman of Ashill Parish Council and we discussed this at last night's meeting. The general view was with the greatly increased amount of crime in the village these past 2 months most people would gladly pay 50p per week. But we would certainly want "results" for our investment and would hold the commissioner and chief constable to account if they were not forthcoming.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We are seeing an unprecedented increase in attempted and actual /theft burglars, both in Wymondham shops and rural residential locations... The spend on Police either needs to be increased substantially or cut completely, remove the charge from the rates, allowing locals to look to form a South Norfolk CIC with community subscriptions and fund our own private security team to protect our property.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I believe PCSOs should be retained as they perform a valuable role, particularly in areas such as rural crime.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	Why have you quoted a weekly cost when most people pay Council Tax monthly? Very disingenuous. You should also show the annual cost of each option.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element		the police Do Not Need any More Money they Have to much Now that is wasted	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		No point in paying more as nothing happens to the criminals even if caught except wimp slap on wrist Only other job is money raising through fines for 'speeding ' 32 mph in a 30 limit !!! Criminal behaviour !!!	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element			Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Norfolk Police due a great job with limited resources.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	I have said I would be prepared to pay 50p a week more however this comes with caveats. Better policing of roads, speeding, HGVs going down weight restricted roads, anti social behaviour, street crime and burglary. Also better joined up working with the council to tackle problem areas.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Happy for an increase to pay for the proper policing of Norfolk but you Mr Green are not up to the job and should resign...you are incompetent and a bull ' hitter. I'm also not convinced that Bailey is a good enough manager of the business of policing, you Mr Green are definitely not.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk

No increase in the policing element of		The council tax has gone up this year in order to assist the police but instead of providing the same service they have axed all the pcso's!! Now you are asking for even more money with no promise of a better service. Press the government not the public, we have already paid, but you have failed to keep your promises.	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	I acknowledge the importance of maintaining an effective police service in Norfolk but as I am unaware of whether and how efficiency savings can be made I believe that, on this information only a modest increase over and above the current cap can be supported. There are other public services that are also in crisis and will, no doubt, be making similar overtures to the public.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Every year they ask for more but the general public doesn't see any difference in policing on the streets	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Providing that this money is definitely spent on policing, and we see more policemen on the beat!!	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		This plays into the hands of our current dishonest govt. Takes the lowest paid out of income tax but then hits them with other levies which are not based on ability to pay. The tax is then at a higher disproportionate rate for the poorest. Tory scam.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	We are seeing less and less of our police officers. We need more visibility which means more officers and not Specials. Why does the Chief Constable not give the PCSO's more powers which he is entitled to do under the law? This would help to free up officers time.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	I can't see why anyone would not agree to these small increases.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		central government needs to fund this - as the 6th richest state in the world the money should be available	Great Yarmouth
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Many ask the question if we still have police coverage in Rural South Norfolk... The easy targets of catching drivers doing 10 miles over the limit on almost empty A/B roads is the only time you see any sight of police... It doesn't take a rocket scientist to work out why both attempted theft and burglary are sky rocketing in rural villages and locals just not bothering to report it, what is the point when the deterrent isn't there in the first place.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would	We need to protect our services and our wonderful brave Police with the dangerous job they do, their safety comes first in my opinion, and with less police that is not going to happen.	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Any further rise in taxation is unwelcome when the overall cost of living is rising and I am not receiving any increase in my income (which has remained static for several years)	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Very Important that we support our police.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		The options presented do not set out adequately the implications of the options in policing terms to enable people to make an informed decision.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element of			King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of			Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		Spend less on the Police and Crime commissioner. Move the money saved to the Police. I have yet to see the PCC make any cuts	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	The Police Service has to live within a reasonable budget and must look at cutting costs and income generation in order to maintain front line service delivery within that budget. This will require some imaginative thinking and discipline to deliver. No one said it would be easy!	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	social care is in even greater need and I would prefer to pay extra for that	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	My wife and I are 80 and disabled, we highly value both Council services and especially policing to keep us all safe.	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	When budgets are so stretched and PCSO's are made redundant why arent the back office PC's working 9-5 on full pay made to work shifts and weekends like the frontline? Is it appropriate that Police Officers are going into libraries reading stories to children? Are they on full pay? You are asking for more money but do you really know what every PC is doing in the first place?	South Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		A public sector service always costs more than one operated by the private sector. Simply because there is little financial accountability to the taxpayer in what you do or how you operate. The government is trying to make you more accountable to your customers.	Broadland

Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	So far as I am concerned the police force is an essential service and as I have no reason to suspect the problems faced are (unlike some other essential services) due to bad management then I favour the force being better funded. The police officers job can be difficult enough with the impediment of rules regulations and "correctness" without restricting them further by penny pinching. I wish you well and hope most people are sensible and not blinded by prejudice and thus fully support you.	Breckland
No increase in the policing element of		AS TAX PAYERS THERE IS A LIMIT AS TO HOW MUCH WE CAN KEEP PAYING OUT	King's Lynn and West Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	no	Breckland
No increase in the policing element of
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Norwich
No increase in the policing element of		I would suggest you look at the financial practice of the council's dealings on the Northern distributor road and the incinerator in Kings Lynn £ 23 million wasted that could have been put to use by yourselves.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase) This would	Asking people how many pence per week they are prepared to pay is disingenuous! Before asking people to pay more you should present evidence that the force is working to maximum efficiency and that all opportunities to share resources with neighbouring forces have been explored. We should be shown metrics that compare performance with other forces. My experience as a parish council chair suggests that there are still many opportunities to increase the efficiency of local government services.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Need emphasis on traffic speeding and disregard for 20mph and 30mph sign. You have end date as 2016 on first page.	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would		Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This would	Make the service users pay more such as repeat offenders and irresponsible individuals who end up in court	Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	Inflation at present is 3% so there is no justification to raise Norfolk Constabulary part of council tax above that figure.	Norwich
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 25 pence per week (a 6% increase) This would		King's Lynn and West Norfolk
No increase in the policing element of		Norfolk car parks have a surplus of ten million .it all comes out of our pocket. Use that.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence per	The public is struggling and has nowhere to turn to for additional funds , we have to live within whatever we have. I think you should take the same approach and stop buying items such as drones until you can afford them.	Norwich

No increase in the policing element			Breckland
No increase in the policing element		When you came into office you placed the emphasis very heavily on community involvement in policing. That has changed very quickly into the Chief Constable doing policing to, rather than with, communities. We've had no chance to feed in to his grand new plan for policing - it's been presented as a done deal. I don't think there is sufficient scrutiny of the Force budget - it's all very superficial - and I don't trust my extra council tax will be used in the right way.	South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		Breckland
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	All government funding is being cut - the police is no different. You must do your job and balance your budget - this is one of the most vital things you are elected to do - do not let down the people of Norfolk by just asking for more money - set a practical budget and make sure you stick to it. Otherwise, you'll find yourself not re-elected next time.	Broadland
No increase in the policing element		My salary has not risen in the last three years my outgoings have risen including my council tax last year and this year - unless my salary rises with inflation to cover my existing rising costs there is simply NO MONEY to cover more rises - like the PCC says we are broke - well so am !!	North Norfolk
No increase in the policing element		The financially stretched population should not be asked for an increase at all. With inflation rising and wages stagnating we are all worse off without having to stump up more and more (as a percentage of income) for a service that has deteriorated in recent years.	Broadland
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 19 pence per week (a 4.5% increase)This wou		South Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	I am not prepared to pay any more than an extra 8 pence pe	Central government and abdicated their responsibilities in funding police properly from the central government grant. They are moving their responsibilities onto local communities to pay more tax via their council tax.	Great Yarmouth
No increase in the policing element		My income has not increased for years, and in Norfolk I am not unusual in that respect. Why should the Police receive an increase in their income at my expense?	Norwich
No increase in the policing element		You need to stop paying bonus payments to senior officers for performance and be more proactive disposing of Officers who cannot carry out their duties of Constable	North Norfolk
Increase the policing element of	Up to an extra 50 pence per week (a 12% increase) This wou		Breckland